ORIGIN OF COMMON COMPLAINTS:

digestive insufficiency due to aging

During the process of aging, natural digestive secretions diminish. In the elderly, improper eating habits and poor mastication due to bad teeth and dentures may also be the cause of digestive disturbances. As a result, the "over-40" patient frequently complains of bloating, cramps and flatulence due to excess intestinal gas.

Festal delivers higher potency enzyme supplementation to the site of action in the small intestine where fats, carbohydrates and proteins are normally digested.

Festal's higher potency is of particular value to the aging patient with chronic symptoms due to digestive enzyme insufficiency.

Dosage: Adults, one or two tablets three times daily at meals.

Supplied: Bottles of 100 enteric-coated tablets.
