Badgers outlast Iowa, "Swamp" Buckeyes

by Jim Mott

UW Sports News Service

Wisconsin 25, Iowa 16

October 17

It was that kind of football game! Iowa piled up more first downs (24-15), passed the Badgers dizzy (304 yards to 91 as Hawkeye quarterback Olen Treadway, a Missouri import, established Big Ten and Iowa school records with 26 completions in 41 attempts), and outgained Wisconsin all afternoon (468 yards to 305), yet the scoreboard at the game's conclusion read, Wisconsin 25, Iowa 16.

The Badgers played with a deadly fury through most of the first three quarters, doggedly determined to win back the pride they had lost when Purdue had dealt them a 21-0 humiliation the week previous. They wanted to prove they were a good team—a good team bounces back from a 21-0 defeat—and they did just that on this clear, sunny October afternoon before a record gathering of 65,256.

The aerial display put on by Iowa's Treadway was a thing of beauty, and while he found his target 26 times, the longest completion was for 23 yards—the Badgers were content to allow him pitch the short passes and keep the Hawk-eyes from going for the so-called 'home run', the long pass completion. Treadway gave no indication of his aerial wizardry in the first half, being content to throw eleven times, complete six for 67 yards. In the second half, though, he fired 30 passes, completed 19, for 237 yards, and his passes were responsible for both Iowa scores.

Iowa won the pre-game toss of the coin, and elected to receive. On the first scrimmage play, Treadway went back to pass; Jim Heineke barreled in and dropped him for a six yard loss. The Iowa pilot then used his battering fullback, Don Horn, through the middle, but the Wisconsin tackles, Heineke and Dan Lanphear dropped him for no gain. The Hawkeyes punted to Wisconsin on third down, and the Badgers started from their own 38 yard line to score the game's first points.

Jim Bakken rolled out for five yards, then Bill Hobbs, Eau Claire senior, burst over the left side of Iowa's line and scampered 46 yards to the Iowa eleven where defender Bob Jeter overhauled him out of bounds. The Badger attack stalled against a rugged Iowa defense, and on fourth down Karl Holzwarth booted his third field goal of the year, a 25 yarder that gave the Badgers a 3-0 margin after just three minutes fifty seconds of play.

The Hawkeyes took the ensuing kickoff and marched downfield to Wisconsin's 30. Treadway passed to end Don Norton for 23 yards and an apparent first down, but Norton fumbled when hit and Zeman recovered to end the drive.

Three plays later the Badgers gave back the gift as Hart fumbled after receiving a 20 yard pass from Hackbart and center Lloyd Humphreys of Iowa fell on it on the Iowa 39.

The Hawks stayed mainly on the ground in marching downfield again, with Jeter roaring around the right side of Iowa's line for 21 yards, then Ray Jauch picking up seven in two plays to the 33. On third down, a Wisconsin offside penalty gave Iowa a first down on the 28. Jauch gained 6, then Jeter barreled for eight and a Hawkeye first down on the Badgers 14.

The Badgers' defense, led by Lanphear, Heineke and right guard Jerry Stalcup stiffened here, and stopped the Hawkeyes on the Wisconsin 16, following a five yard offside penalty and two incomplete forward passes. A fourth down field goal attempt by T. Y. Moore, third team Iowa quarterback, was blocked by the onrushing Dan Lanphear, and the Badgers took over on their own 33.

A fine punt by Jim Bakken out of bounds on the Iowa five yard line put Iowa with their backs to the wall as the first quarter ended and set the stage for the first Badger score. Wisconsin had moved from their own 33 to the Iowa 39 when the drive stalled and Bakken kicked.

The Hawks moved upfield to a first down on the 17, then saw left halfback John Brown fumble when hit on second down after a seven yard gain. Ron Perkins recovered for Wisconsin on the Iowa 27. It was easy for the Badgers from here—Hackbart passed to end Henry Derleth for 20 yards, then passed in the flat to leftback Bill Hobbs, who was stopped just short of the goal. Hackbart scored on a sneak after just four minutes of play in the second period. Holzwarth kicked the extra point, and it was 10-0.

After Iowa had picked up a first down in its next series of plays, reserve fullback Gene Mosley fumbled when hit; Perkins again was the man-of-the-minute, recovering on the Iowa 40. Again the Badgers were not to be denied—they scored in six plays.

Bakken on a keeper gained 5, then sent fullback Tom Wiesner over the right side for 12 yards to the Iowa 23. Bakken on another keeper went 12 yards to the Iowa 23. Bakken on another keeper went 12 yards to the 11 and a first down. Wiesner bulled his way over right guard to the Iowa 2, and on third down, literally flew into the end zone. Holzwarth kicked the extra point, and the Badgers led 17-0, with 5:41 to play in the first half.

Iowa monopolized the remaining minutes of the second quarter, marching from their own 28 to Wisconsin's 14 before stopped by another fumble, this one recovered by center Bob Nelson. Treadway passed eight times during this march, completing five for 44 yards to account for most of the yardage. A costly fifteen yard clipping penalty following the first completion in the march proved too much of a handicap to overtime.

The Badgers put the game on ice immediately following the second half kickoff, which Bob Zeman returned to the Badgers 30. Eleven plays covered the 70 yards needed, and established a 25-0 lead that proved superior the remainder of the game.

Billy Hobbs gained seven yards in two plays, then Ed Hart on third down contributed a fine piece of sheer running power to give the Badgers a vitally needed first down on the Wisconsin 41. A Hackbart pass was incomplete, then he hit Zeman for 15 yards and a first down on the Iowa 44. Hackbart and Hobbs ran the ball to the 31, again a first down, then Dale pitched complete to Henry Derleth on the Iowa 17, a fourteen yard gain. From here it took Eddie Hart four plays to tally, smashing for 8, 4, 2, and three yards and the touchdown. Hackbart ran the ball into the end zone on a quarterback sneak after successive Iowa penalties put the ball on the one yard line, and Wisconsin led 25-0, with six minutes played in the third period.

From this point on Iowa stormed back with its passing attack, and in little over three minutes had tallied. Treadway moved the Hawkeyes downfield exclusively on passes, completing six of eight for 80 yards, with fullback Don Horn plunging over from the one yard line on the ninth play to cap an 81 yard march. The two point conversion was successful on a Treadway to Norton pass, and with 5:33 to play in the third period, Wisconsin led 25-8.

The Hawkeyes stormed downfield following a Wisconsin punt to reach Wisconsin's 11 yard line, only to be stopped by right end Henry Derleth's great defensive effort, reaching far when blocked to bat the ball from Treadway's grasp, and cause a fumble recovered by Lanphear.

Shortly after the fourth period started, Iowa marched downfield, this time on the strength of right halfback Jerry Mauren's 19 yard scamper. But the drive stalled on the Wisconsin 21, and the Badgers took over on downs. The Badgers ran four plays, then punted, and Iowa started over again from the Iowa 34.

Eight plays were required to cover the 66 yards, with Treadway passing seven times and completing four for 55 yards, including a 21 yard scoring pass to end Don Norton to cap the drive. Treadway's pass to end Jeff Langston for the two point conversion was good and the scoreboard read 25-16 with 7:59 to play.

Iowa may have thought they could score again, but the Badgers had different ideas, and marched downfield in a time consuming drive, that stalled on Iowa's 21 with just 1:50 to play. Yet, Treadway had time to throw seven passes, complete three, and move to Wisconsin's 39 as the game ended.

Wisconsin's Billy Hobbs off on a long gainer

Wisconsin's Billy Hobbs (16) breaks into the clear for a 46 yard gain in the first quarter of the Iowa game. Iowa's fleet-footed Jeter (11) prevented a score when he caught Hobbs from behind on the Iowa 11 yard line. Four plays later, Karl Holzwarth put the Badgers ahead 3-0 with a 25 yard field goal.

UW-M CARDS START FAST, THEN FALTER

Coach Armin Kraefft's University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Cardinals headed into the last half of their 1959 football season with black ink on the won-lost ledger, and a good chance of turning in the best school record for many a year—and certainly since the formation of the merged University in 1956.

Last year it was a 3-5 record. In 1957 it was 2-6, but the nadir came in 1956 when it was no wins and eight losses.

This year, things started out right with a 13-0 victory on the field of Moorhead, Minn., State College. Quarterback Ron Stanton provided the fireworks in scoring when he raced 84 yards for the winning touchdown and passed 40 yards to end Dick Rauch for another score.

Against Oshkosh State in the first UW-M home contest, the Cardinals took advantage of Titan errors to roll up a 32-0 score and gain their first State Conference league win. Quarterbacks Stanton and Jim Cleary completed eight strategic passes and the stout UW-Milwaukee defense held Oshkosh to only 55 yards on the ground, intercepting five of the Titan's 22 passes.

The Cards made their conference record 2-0 with a one-point conversion by Ed Wicklander providing the margin in a 13-12 victory over Stout at Menomonie. Coach Kraefft's fighting squad, tenacious on defense and distinguished for heads-up, alert football, came from behind twice.

But then things took a turn—and for the worse. UW-M journeyed to Stevens Point with hearts full of hope but suffered a 7-0 defeat under adverse weather conditions.

The next week, October 17, was no better. A rash of Cardinal mistakes on offense ruined the UW-M Homecoming and Platteville—even though held to less than 50 yards in total offense—splattered the Kraefftmen with a 27-13 defeat.

Whitewater State was next, and some UW-M rooters breathed a sigh of relief, when the game with this powerhouse was postponed by bad weather.

Wisconsin 12, Ohio State 3 October 24

The day so many Badger fans had long awaited finally came this raw October afternoon as 55,440 witnessed Wisconsin's first triumph over an Ohio State team since 1946. The final score of 12-3 hardly begins to tell the story of a gallant band of Cardinal-clad Badgers who never let up in their quest of this long sought victory.

The Badgers were paced in this furious battle by their rugged forward wall, anchored by a pair of standout tackles, Dan Lanphear, who played one of the greatest games a Wisconsin tackle has ever played, and Jim Heineke, who was not far behind Lanphear in performance this day. Co-Captain and right guard Jerry Stalcup was a constant thorn in the Buckeyes side all afternoon, climaxing his work by killing off the final Ohio threat with four minutes to play when he intercepted a forward pass and ran it back fourteen yards to Wisconsin's 35 yard line.

There were others in the line this day, too—Ron Perkins, at left guard, the ends Henry Derleth and Allan Schoonover—(starting in place of the injured Jim Holmes) and center Bob Nelson, along with the second unit personnel—that must be mentioned, too. Perhaps on this day, more than any other, they all had their finest hour.

In the backfield, the standout was Dale Hackbart, especially in Wisconsin's 54 yard march downfield for the game's only touchdown. His playcalling was perfect, exploiting Ohio's defenses to best advantage, and his execution of the keeper or 'option' play with hard running enabled him to penetrate into the end zone for the Wisconsin touchdown after ten minutes of action in the first quarter.

Don't overlook the performances of Tom Wiesner, Billy Hobbs, Ron Steiner, Ed Hart, Bob Zeman, Bob Altmann, or the sophomore quarterback Jim Bakken, either. On this day, they were all great.

Wisconsin won the toss of the coin and elected to defend the north goal at the outset, taking advantage of a strong 25 mile an hour north wind blowing into Camp Randall Stadium all afternoon with gusts at times reaching 40 miles an hour.

The Badgers established their superiority right at the outset, holding the Buckeyes to five yards in two plays, with quarterback Jerry Fields electing to punt into the wind on third down. The punt rolled to a halt on the Ohio State 49, a 24 yard effort. The Badgers returned the punt three plays later, Hackbart's punt going out-of-bounds on the Ohio State 19.

Again the Buckeyes repeated their attack, running for two plays—gaining four yards—then choosing to punt on third down. This time Dan Lanphear broke through to block the punt, the ball rolling into the end zone—and out of it—as right end Allan Schoonover tried to control the wet and slippery pigskin. The Badgers led 2-0 after just 3:50 had been played in the first period.

End Jim Houston's free kick following the safety went out of bounds on the Wisconsin 46, and the Badgers were in position to begin their first scoring March of the afternoon. It took thirteen running plays for the Badgers to negotiate the 54 yards, but there was no stopping the Badgers on this march. Billy Hobbs gained four to the mid-field stripe, then Ed Hart slanted off tackle for four more yards. Hackbart picked up the first down, sweeping Ohio's right end for six yards to the Buckeye 40.

With the drive well underway, the Badgers picked up first downs on the 29, then again on the 18, with Hackbart using Hobbs and Hart to pick up the needed yardage. It was 'Bread and Butter' football—as Ohio's coach Woody Hayes calls it—at its best on this gray afternoon. Hackbart used the keeper play to gain another first down on the Ohio State seven, and the crowd sensed an early kill. Hart drove to the four yard line on first down, then Hackbart lost three on a fumble and recovery on second down.

Here came play that proved later to be the winning play of the game. Hackbart rolled out to his right to pass, saw no one clear, cut in, saw an opening and crashed into the end zone through three Buckeye defenders. It was clearly Hackbart at his best, and when Karl Holzwarth added the extra point from placement, the Badgers led 9-0 with 4:55 left to play in the first period.

An exchange of punts followed, with Jim Bakken's punt giving Ohio the ball on their own three yard line near the end of the quarter. On the second play of the second stanza, sophomore left halfback Bob Ferguson broke over Wisconsin's left side for 52 yards, with Dale Hackbart bringing him down on the Badgers 30. Perhaps, a speedier back would have gone all the way, but fortunately, Hackbart overhauled Ferguson, and prevented an easy score.

It took the Buckeyes four plays to gain a first down on Wisconsin's 16, then three more rushing plays picked up seven to the Badgers nine. On fourth down, placekicking specialist Dave Kilgore booted a 27 yard field goal to reduce Wisconsin's lead to 9-3 with 11:05 left to play in the half.

The Badgers came back strong, marching down to Ohio State's 16 before being repulsed. A fine piece of running by left back Ron Steiner netted 38 yards on the draw play, setting up a first down on the Ohio 23. On fourth down Holzwarth's field goal attempt was wide, and the visitors took over on their own 20. On the first play, Ferguson fumbled when hit, and Lanphear fell on the ball.

The Badgers could not take advantage of this break, though, and again a fourth down field goal attempt was muffed, Bakken's kick short and wide.

An exchange of punts—Fields punted 75 yards to the Wisconsin 13, Bakken punted 38 yards to the Ohio 11, after a Badger march stalled at mid-field—set the stage for the final scoring sortie of the day. Fields moved the Bucks downfield on a 24 yard pass completion to Ron Houck, and was aided on the next play by a 19 yard interference call against the Badger secondary. An incomplete pass was followed by a Billy Hobbs interception of a Fields pass, and he returned to the Ohio State 46 from the Badgers 30.

On the first play, Bakken's long pass to Schoonover was broken up by Houck, and the Badgers had a first down on the Ohio 14. A penalty for an illegal pass moved the Badgers back to the 22. Bakken gained two, wisely running out of bounds to stop the clock, then Hart slammed through the middle for ten yards to the ten yard line. On fourth down with eleven seconds of playing time remaining, Holzwarth booted a 27 yard field goal, and Wisconsin had a 12-3 lead.

Wisconsin made this lead hold up throughout the second half, using a stout defense along with some fine punting to hold the vaunted Buckeyes at bay.

Ohio State had three opportunities to score in this hard fought second half; none succeeded. Midway in the third period, Jim Bakken fielded a Jerry Fields punt on the Wisconsin ten, fumbled, and managed to return two yards to the twelve. On first down, Bakken's hand off on the belly series to Hart was fumbled, and left tackle Dick Michael recovered on the Wisconsin 13. Ferguson carried to the nine, then reserve back John Detrick went over right tackle to the six. On third down, Fields rolled out, got to the five, fumbled when hit by Lanphear, and Jim Hieienke fell on the ball.

Bakken punted out of danger, and a 15 yard clipping penalty on the ensuing punt return aided the Badger cause. Still the Ohioans came, with reserve quarterback Tom Matte gaining 22 yards from pass formation, running when about to be hit, and reaching the Wisconsin 27. The Badgers stiffened, and Kilgore's attempted field goal was smeared when Tom Matte fumbled the center pass.

Wisconsin's punting continued to be deadly as the game entered the fourth period, with Hackbart punting the ball dead on the Buckeye seven, and after an exchange, punted to Ferguson on the 11 yard line, with a short return to the 14. Ferguson left the game at this point not to return, being smashed down by Lanphear on a jolting tackle that chilled the fans to the freezing point.

Following another exchange of punts, the Buckeyes made their last effort, starting from their 16, though the crowd sat through it relaxed, as the clock ticked off precious seconds, for they realized that victory at long last was at hand over this vaunted foe.

Matte rolled out for seven, then passed a quickie over the line to end Jim Houston for 15 yards. Matte followed with completions to end Tom Perdue for 9, and to back Houck for 8, then rolled out for 16 yards to reach the Wisconsin 27. The threat ended here when Jerry Stalcup grabbed the ball from Perdue's grasp as he momentarily juggled the ball, returned to the Wisconsin 35, and the Badgers had achieved the well deserved victory over Ohio State at long last.

"Badger Beat" is the theme of the 1959 Wisconsin Homecoming weekend November 14 and 15. Many floats, displays, and decorations will be based on variations of this theme. This year's Homecoming button carries the slogan "Badger Beat 'Em" and depicts Bucky Badger giving the Illini a mad whirl with an egg beater.

A pep rally on Thursday afternoon, November 12, will mark the first official Homecoming event. Students from all corners of the campus will congregate on the steps of the Union to send spirits soaring and wish our Badgers luck.

Friday afternoon, displays will begin to go up in front of most of the living units. They will remain there Friday and Saturday until just before game time, but must be taken down then due to fire regulations.

Later on Friday the Homecoming parade will wend its way along Langdon Street. The parade will include floats from various living units in addition to the Homecoming Royalty. After halting at the Union, the "Yell Like Hell" contest will commence.

"Yell Like Hell" is a contest in which men's and women's living units are paired off and each pair thinks of an original cheer. Winners are judged on originality and on the loudness of the cheer.

Eight-thirty Friday evening will find all Badgers seated in the Field House enjoying the Homecoming Show. A top male and female singer, a fine band, and an excellent singing group will provide the entertainment for this year's variety show, which is sure to be a big success.

Our Badgers take on the Fighting Illini Saturday afternoon at Camp Randall Stadium. This promises to be a thrilling afternoon of football for everyone, followed by an informal get-together for all alumni at Breese Terrace Cafeteria. This is an excellent time to meet old friends and noted faculty who will be present. Coffee and donuts will be served.

The 1959 Homecoming festivities will conclude Saturday night with a campus-wide dance, featuring a name dance band. All Alums are cordially invited to attend all of the Homecoming events where it is hoped we can welcome you home, Badger.
