FOSDICK TO SPEAK AT FIRST RELIGIOUS MEETING TONIGHT

Spiritual Leadership Will Be Discussed at Lathrop Tonight; Birge Talks

Speaking on "The Need of Modern Religious Leadership," Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, considered one of the most capable ministers in America, will open the annual all-university religious conference at 7:30 tonight in Lathrop hall.

President Birge will preside at the convocation and will introduce the speaker. The convocation will be announced in all classes today and notices placed in all the major lecture rooms. The following program for this evening was announced yesterday by Clara Hertzberg '25, music chairman, and George Hanna '26, chairman of the arrangements committee.

Community singing, university hymn, "America The Beautiful," led by Prof. E. B. Gordon; selections by the Men's Glee club, "March of the Men of Harlech," "Goin' Home," directed by Prof. E. E. Swinney; introduction by President Birge; address by Dr. Fosdick, "The Need of Modern Religious Leadership."

Arrangements have been made to seat approximately 2,000 persons at the meetings in Lathrop hall, to which only students will be admitted. The addresses by Dr. Fosdick at 3:30 and 7:30 o'clock Sunday, will be held in the men's gymnasium and will be open to the public.

"The university has set aside this week-end for religious matters," Clifford Franseen '25, chairman of the conference, said yesterday. "After several years of trying, the university has been able to get Dr. Fosdick. We feel that the message which he will bring to Wisconsin students is of value, and will be interesting and worth-while to everyone."

Dr. Fosdick will have luncheon with the members of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinets Friday noon and will talk to various church groups while in the city. From here he goes to the University of Illinois for a series of talks.

BALL TO BE LAST DANCE IN CAPITOL

Severson Bill Almost Certain to Pass in Opinion of Senators

When the last strain of music fades away through the halls of the state capitol on the morning of April 4, it will in reality be "taps" for future balls and proms in the capitol. It is almost certain, according to members of the legislature, that the Severson bill, now on the calendar to prohibit future dancing in the state house, will be passed when it comes before the legislature.

"There is practically nothing which will prevent the bill from going through when it comes up," Senator Gary, who was responsible for the passage of the bill allowing the present Military ball to be held in the capitol, said yesterday. "We succeeded in getting the bill moved up on the calendar so that it will not come up until after the ball has been held, but there are no expectations of defeating the measure.

"A large number of the legislators will be on hand to see the ball, and there is a possibility that if the students conduct themselves in a satisfactory manner that the bill will be defeated, but it is not likely."

Public opinion throughout the state is against dancing in the state house and that the Severson bill has so many supporters in the senate that it will surely go through was the opinion expressed by Senator Carroll.

Nation to Act as Judges in First Badger Radio Debate

A new radio feature will be introduced by station WHA Monday night when the affirmative and negative teams, debating the powers of the United States supreme court, will meet each other.

The debate is given exclusively for radio fans. No one will be present in the laboratory during the course of the debate. It will be conducted, however, as any formal debate except that the decision will be in the hands of those listening in.

MORRIS ELECTED TO HONOR POST IN PAT'S PARADE

Annual Event Scheduled For Tomorrow at 2 O'Clock; Judges Chosen

Robert N. Morris '26, was elected to the post of honor—that of the Engineers' patron saint, in the final balloting which closed yesterday. He defeated Daniel Kelly '25 and Bruce F. Reinhart '25, the other candidates in the race.

Final count of the ballot last night showed Morris leading with 130,000 votes. Reinhart came second with 63,000 and Kelly third, with 25,000.

Morris will be St. Pat in the annual engineers' parade tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The parade will start from the foot of North Park street, and the line of march will extend down State street, around the square, up Wisconsin avenue, and then down Langdon street to the Engineering building, according to James Verner '25, general chairman of the parade.

The judges of the parade are Prof. P. H. Hyland, Prof. R. S. Owen, Prof. J. T. Rood, Prof. T. R. Shorey and R. E. Ramsay, according to C. P. Lindner '25, chairman of the committee for the selection of judges. Prizes for all events have been donated by the merchants of Madison.

An engineers' band of 35 pieces under the direction of F. R. Lhotak '25, will march at the head of the parade.

The enthusiasm displayed by the band at the head of the column will be continued by the engineers' ten-piece orchestra farther down the line. An attempt is being made to replace the "stap-stick style" of former orchestras with some real harmony and melody.

Leonardson to Be Soloist For Next Orchestra Concert

Eugene Leonardson '26 will be the soloist for the University orchestra at the concert to be given next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Music hall auditorium. Mr. Leonardson will be accompanied by Robert Nethercut '25, pianist for the Men's Glee club.

Another special number which will be on the program is the prize song from Wagner's "Meistersinger." "This selection will be played at request of a number of the auditors of last year's concert.

The orchestra includes 60 pieces at present, the full symphony orchestra number.

LIT SOCIETIES TO HOLD FIRST MEETING TONIGHT

The three men's literary societies, Athenae, Philomathia and Hesperia, will hold a joint meeting tonight for the second time in the history of the societies. They will assemble to hear Prof. William Rice of the Law school give his viewpoints on "World Peace." The meeting will be held in 220 Bascom hall. After the open discussion, the societies will adjourn to their respective rooms to conduct their weekly business meetings.

over the radio will be asked to send in a card signifying the side who won, according to their judgment.

This type of debate was first used last year by the universities of Oregon and Washington in their annual debate. Wisconsin is the first university in the Middle West to conduct such a debate.

Those representing the affirmative will be John Sumner '26, Eileen Blackey '25, and Glen Bell '25, and the negative will be upheld by Isidor Alk L1, George Mitchell '25, and Harold Sporer '25.

UPSETS AND CLOSE GAMES MARK SECOND BASKETBALL ROUND

Three Impatient Sports Celebrate Coming of Spring

"Sprig" has "cub."

The balmy-scented air wafted o'er the careworn faces of Bascom bound students was taken seriously by a few.

George Martin, grad, had his first swim of the season, when he plunged into old Mendota at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning. He came out of the water agitated in body and with the epic remark on his lips of "Spring is here."

Vernon A. Dyer '27 and Otto C. Austin '28, also felt that they should celebrate the coming of spring. They enjoyed the distinction of being the first canoeists of the season. These sailors declared that they rather liked their little paddle before their 11 o'clock classes.

The lake is far from safe, however. Unless one wishes to tickle one's toes or ram their canoe against miniature icebergs they should wait until spring has been with us for several weeks longer.

DISTRIBUTE EXPO BOOKLETS TODAY

Cross Section of University Given For People of the State

"Watch for the orange folder today. Send it home. After you have read the story, spread the news of Wisconsin's great exposition throughout the state," was the word given out to the student body last night by Eugene Tuhtar '25, general chairman of the university exposition.

Thousands of printed orange folders, telling the purpose and idea of the expo, will be distributed at the 9 and 10 o'clock classes today. Faculty permission has been secured, and every instructor having a class at that hour will see that every student in his section gets a folder.

"If you do not have a 10 o'clock class or do not get a folder, there will be a stack in the lobby of the old clinic building and on tables in the various buildings. Be sure to get your copy," Tuhtar said.

The booklet is printed in handy form and may be sent home by placing a stamp and address on it. The general purposes of the exposition are outlined, showing how the university will be presented in cross section for examination by the people of the state; how the teaching methods will be put on exhibit; how the lead which the university has taken in the scientific field will be displayed, and how the educational results of Wisconsin's teaching system will be convincingly shown to the visitors.

The booklet describes the work which is being done by the student committees and sets forth the program, entertainment, and the departments represented.

Exposition officials are anxious that all students should send at least one of the booklets home and should get the idea of the exposition in mind themselves, "the only exposition of its kind in the world, the climax of seven months' careful preparation, held every four years, once in a college lifetime."

FISH ON SUMMER STAFF OF LELAND STANFORD

Changes in the summer school teaching staff of the university include the departure of Carl Russell Fish, professor of American history, for Leland Stanford university, California. He will teach recent American History and Representative Americans. Professor Coulter of the University of Georgia will teach here in the place of Professor Fish.

Beloit, Shawano, La Crosse, and Neenah in Semi-Finals Today

Upsets and close contests characterized the play in the annual state basketball tournament yesterday, which returned Beloit, Shawano, La Crosse, and Neenah victors and placed them in the semi-finals which will be played today.

River Falls, Superior, Manitowoc, and Wisconsin Rapids were victorious in the consolation series. The semi-finals in this series will be played this afternoon. New Glarus, Eau Claire, Watertown, and Waukesha will compete in the third place series.

GAMES TODAY

1 o'clock—New Glarus vs. Eau Claire.

2 o'clock—River Falls vs. Superior.

3 o'clock—Manitowoc vs. Wisconsin Rapids.

7 o'clock—Watertown vs. Waukesha.

8 o'clock—Beloit vs. Shawano.

9 o'clock—La Crosse vs. Neenah.

The first upset of the day came when the New Glarus team lost to the seemingly weaker Beloit team. Beloit came back yesterday in a fast and well-played game and defeated New Glarus one of the tournament favorites. The next upset was the victory of the Shawano quintet over the Eau Claire team.

La Crosse, after overwhelmingly outplaying Watertown in the first half, did not make a single basket in the last period and all but lost to the fighting Watertown five. Neenah was easily the class in the Waukesha contest and won by a comfortable margin.

In the consolation series Superior demonstrated that it had an off day Wednesday against Eau Claire. Yesterday afternoon the northern five completely rounded the Bloomer team after a slow start. Appleton

MATHEWS GIVES CHEMISTRY TALK

Chemical Progress Outlined in Address Sponsored By Phi Kappa Phi

"As chemistry develops so does civilization," said Prof. Joseph H. Mathews, director of the Course in Chemistry in his address on the progress of chemistry in the last quarter of a century, under the auspices of Phi Kappa Phi.

"As civilization becomes more complex, the need of well-trained chemists becomes greater. The youth of the present century are carrying their education in chemistry farther than did the youth of the last century."

The constitution of matter is the topic of the greatest theoretical interest, according to Professor Mathews.

"We know now that there are 92 elements in nature and that the heaviest of these are spontaneously breaking up into lighter ones. The lighter elements are now being taken apart by our Rutherford and we are even learning how they are put together, although we are not able to reassemble the parts," he said.

Professor Mathews outlined the progress made in special fields of chemistry. Colloid chemistry, the chemistry of substances in a finely divided state, has developed chiefly since 1900. Today it is important in many of our professions, he declared, agriculture, medicine, biological problems, geology, and most industries have problems related to colloid chemistry.

SPRING WEATHER BRINGS JOY TO HEART OF JONES

McGinnis Primed For a First in High Jump at California

"Make hay while the sun shines" is an old adage that has been adopted by Coach Jones and his track legions this week. Every afternoon of this excellent training weather has been spent at Camp Randall to put the men on edge for the California meet.

When the meet was first considered it was thought that the Badgers would be heavily handicapped by not being able to get any outdoor practice. As it takes at least a week to become accustomed to running on a quarter mile oval track after several months indoors, such a situation would make the meet very uneven but present conditions are such that weather will not play a very important factor in deciding the victor. Each day Coach Jones arises early to see if it is going to be good weather and so far he has not been disappointed.

Score in Jumps

In addition to some of the weight events and the distance runs Coach Jones plans on several points at least in the high jump. To date no news of extraordinary prowess in the high jump have filtered back to Wisconsin from the west coach, all of which gives the Badgers ample cause to be inclined to chalk up five points for Chuck McGinnis in the jumps.

In the relay carnival of a week ago McGinnis cleared the bar when it was resting at 6 feet 4 inches which is some jump and will take the best they have in California to beat it. Outdoors McGinnis should do even better. Roberts surprised himself, the coach, and everyone else by clearing 6 feet in the same meet and gives promise of developing into a consistent point winner along with McGinnis and Tuhtar in the jump.

Tuhtar Out

Tuhtar, only varsity man in the high jump from last year, will not be able to make the trip to California on account of his stupendous task as general chairman of the University Exposition, which comes while the team will be in California. His absence will reduce the Badger's scoring power and will let the burden in the high jump fall on McGinnis and Roberts.

An interesting duel will occur on this trip between McGinnis and Tom Poor, crack high jumper from Kansas. On the way back from California the Badgers stop at the Kansas Relays and there McGinnis will meet Poor to settle the supremacy of the two men. McGinnis is a native son of Kansas, as is Poor, and these two will fight it out for the title of best jumper in Kansas which will also be the best in the middle west as there is no one else in or out of the Big Ten who has been able to better McGinnis this season. While the father of McGinnis is proud of the feats of his son thus far, he writes that he will not be satisfied until "Chuck" has beaten Tom Poor.

Here's a bit of refreshing news. The United States eats almost $300,000 worth of ice cream every year.

Grapplers, Leather Pushers Ready for Morrows Tourney

Fast Bouts Predicted in All Classes; Expect Record
Breaking Crowd

After an efficient month of intense training, the bevy of enthusiasm accumulated by the boxers and grapplers will break out in the form of a big exhibition on the variety basketball floor tomorrow afternoon in the annual all-university boxing and wrestling tournament. The contests are scheduled to commence at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Ray Moore's boxing protégés will go through a light work-out tonight in the boxing tower of the gym as a final touch of preparation for the big day. Tonight also will see the last few elimination matches among Coach George Hitchcock's mat men.

According to Coach Moore the spectators are in store for a very interesting afternoon. He has arranged the bouts so as to have exhibitions of bouts which will be characterized solely by careful ring work and good style, and others which will be hammering matches, filled from gong to gong with hay-maker blows.

The spectators have the option to watch either the leather pushers or the mat men, who will perform in another section of the gym. The wrestling matches should be no less interesting than the boxing bouts, for Coach Hitchcock has been putting his men through strenuous and effective workouts every night.

Ladies Invited

This annual meeting of the ring and mat men presents an unusual opportunity for the ladies to witness an exhibition of boxing and wrestling of a well directed type.

Nothing is being overlooked to stimulate the attendance of women at the gathering. There is ample reason to believe that the stands will be well filled; in fact, the officials look for a following to exceed the attendance of 1,000 spectators who saw the athletic performances last year.

SENIOR FIVE WINS CLASS GAGE TILT

Will Help Decide Final All Year Championship; Second Successive Victory

Displaying the same brilliant teamwork which has characterized their other victories, the senior women's basketball team fought their way to a 22-18 triumph over the juniors in Lathrop gym last night and again brought the basketball championship to the class of 1925. Class spirit ran wild in the last quarter when the juniors threatened to tie the score but Rugen's two baskets shot in quick succession cinched the victory.

The junior outfit rushed the ball down the floor for a basket in the first ten seconds of the game. Simpson, senior forward, tied the score with a beautiful shot from the side. Jorris guarding for the juniors kept the ball out of the senior shooting range by her excellent floorwork in the first quarter.

Robertson and Lallier, guarding for the seniors, played hard fast games in the second half. When Bigelow and Maytum ran the score up to 18 for the juniors in the third quarter and seriously threatened to tie the game, the senior guards did some pretty guarding. A pass from Smith to Simpson to Rugen for a basket put the score at 22 to 18 in favor of the seniors when the whistle blew.

The victory for the seniors makes their second basketball championship in two years.

Coach Ray Moore, varsity boxing instructor, will act as announcer for the boxing bouts, Dad Vail will be at the gong, Joe Steinauer will be the third man in the ring, and Guy Sundt and Jimmy Brader will act as judges.

Manitowoc in Consolation

Manitowoc barely nosed out Tomahawk, 20 to 18, and remains in consolation play. Wisconsin Rapids defeated Montfort and is the other remaining team in the consolation series.

Six excellent games are booked for today, the leading contest being the game between La Crosse and Neenah, which will be played at 9 o'clock. These two teams are about evenly matched and the game should be a thriller. Beloit has the edge over Shawano and should win.

Superior seems the class of the

In the race for third place New Glarus and Watertown should return winners if these two teams repeat yesterday's play.

River Falls Victors

Displaying a good short pass attack, the River Falls team advanced to the semi-final round in the consolation tourney by defeating Appleton by a 17 to 11 score yesterday afternoon. It was a River Falls victory all the way, the first half ending 9 to 3 in favor of the River Falls quintet.

Carisch, right forward for River Falls, was the star of the game, and accounted for 10 of his team's 17 points. Seggerstrom also played well at guard. For Appleton, the only man who showed a real brand of basketball was Courtney, left forward. He garnered six points and played well.

Superior Comes Back

Superior seemed to find itself after its defeat by Eau Claire Wednesday, and ran away with the Bloomer quintet in the first round of the consolations yesterday. The final score was 40 to 13, and after the first few minutes, the game was never in doubt.

Gurnea was high point man for the Superior team garnering 12 points, while Cass got 8 and Wicklund 7. Dholz performed well at running guard, and marked himself as one of the outstanding men in the tournament at this position. Dettloff and Hutchinson worked well for Bloomer.

Beloit Upsets Dope

Beloit upset the tournament dope by running away from the New Glarus five to the tune of 25 to 12. In the first day of play New Glarus looked like one of the strongest contenders for the state title with their perfection of the short pass game but yesterday Beloit completely outfought and outshot their opponents.

Johnson, the tall rangy Beloit center, and Drager were the chief cogs in their team's offense garnering 17 points between them. Howard, center for the New Glarus tribe, was their main offense with a total of 5 points. Duerst, crack New Glarus forward, could not seem to find the net.

Shawano Gets Hot

Keeping in harmony with a day of upsets the Shawano quintet won one of the closest games of the day from the Eau Claire five by a score of 16 to 12. At half time the two teams were tied 8 to 8 and at the three quarter mark they were still playing neck and neck with the score knotted at 12 to 12 but in the last period Shawano hit the hoop for two counters and at the same time held their opponents to no score.

Erdmann and Krause worked pretty on offense and netted 6 and 4 points. Their passing was accurate and fast while the guarding of Shawano was close at all times. The Eau Claire team were not hitting the same stride as when they sent the crack Superior team into the consolation flight.

The play was slow, and the half ended an 8 to 8 tie. Manitowoc missing many close shots. Peppard, flashy right forward, was the Manitowoc star, along with Shimek, who performed well at back guard. A. Smith played a good game for Tomahawk.

The half ended 11 to 9, but Mortfort came back and tied the score. The play of Zager, center for Wisconsin Rapids, was the feature of the game. His fast dribbling brought the crowd to its feet many times in the course of the game. Burrows performed well for Montfort.

THE SPRING SERENADE SERIES BEGINS

"Serenade! Serenade!"

"Where? Let's go!"

"Sorority Alley. Come on."

And the spring serenade series is under way. From Sorority alley to Lake street, up Langdon and into Lake Lawn place the syncopation hounds take their way, streams of cars following, high-pitched giggling voices welcoming.

It is a Wisconsin tradition, unique and firm-set. Where else is there such a tradition? What else here has a more time-honored grip?

Perhaps a policeman arrives on the scene to clear the court of the cars. He is universally hated in that moment. But he is correct in the performance of his duty, and serves as a reminder that pleasures of the most innocent kind even must be censored, governed by authority.

The serenade proceeds, now that the man at the traps has found a seat on the porch of the sorority house.

Does it typify Wisconsin? In a way it seems to. It is not all of Wisconsin, but it is a large part of it.

Those wild, ecstatic caterwaulings . . . frenzied, throbbing, thrilling; those soft and swinging measures of an easy-moving piece; they are the rapture and the romance of youth. All the exultant enthusiasm, the passion and energy and laughter, the freedom from the meshes of penting winter—that is the serenade.

CERTAINLY, WE WERE WRONG

In the Tuesday issue of the Daily Cardinal an editorial writer quoted a few lines which he ascribed to the hand of Ruskin. Unfortunate miscreant that he is. For since the publication of his fatal error, communications have been flooding us from all sides, explaining that the lines had their origin in the second chapter of the Song of Solomon and not in the White Thorn Blossom.

But how, pray, was the unhappy editorial writer to know that Ruskin had ever possessed the unmanly habit of plagiarizing? For in his copy of the White Thorn Blossom appeared the lines which he quoted, and they were not surrounded with quotation marks. Evidently to become great, a man should plagiarize, and the university has been leading youth astray from the paths of glory by penalizing those who follow John.

But that is beside the point. Yes, the writer should have known his scriptures better. He is a student, however, and consequently must be forgiven. As a matter of fact, none of the condemning communications have come from students. But we are glad to see that there are those who do know their scriptures.

Misquoting is a common habit, evidently, among writers. This should not be taken as a pretty conceit, but Christopher Morley was recently guilty of the sin of quoting something from Mrs. Browning's sonnets from the Portuguese and crediting it to the hand of T. W. H. Crosland. Whereupon he received the following lines, a parody on one of Crosland's poems:

If I should ever linger in thy thought

After I die,

Say there were many things he might have bought—
A hat—a tie;

Unhonored by his fellows, with his song

He piped a feeble note;

BUT—there were things he might have quoted wrong
And did not quote!

Wisconsin Should Know

THE OUTLOOK IN ATHLETICS

"I feel justified in saying that there is a rainbow in the sky for Wisconsin athletics. The Athletic council, contrary to an impression which has existed in some quarters, is united and whole-hearted in its support of intercollegiate athletics. It is, of course, our policy to hew to the line in all matters involving the policy or the spirit of conference regulations and to uphold conference ideals in all our intercollegiate relations. But, likewise, it is our steady desire to improve and extend as rapidly as possible our material facilities and to promote by every legitimate means our athletic strength and success. And, though charged primarily with the promotion and control of intercollegiate athletics, it is our desire and it is our policy—just as rapidly and generously as means will permit—to encourage, and provide for, a wider and fuller participation in physical activity on the part of the male population of the university. We believe this to be a sound policy, both from the standpoint of the general good of the student body and from the standpoint of success in intercollegiate competition.

"It has been felt for some time that things were not going as well as they should go in Wisconsin athletics, and, during the past year especially, the council has been studying the situation closely and planning means to improve it. In this work they have been greatly stimulated and assisted by wide agitation and alert interest among the alumni, and by surprisingly sane, as well as enthusiastic, cooperation of student leaders. During the year, steps have been taken, under favorable auspices of the Board of Regents and especially of President Kronshage and the physical education committee, to secure through an arrangement with the College of Agriculture, a large accession of level ground—near the lake and near the site of the projected dormitories—for playing fields. We are also bending up our energies to secure a great athletic hall for basketball and winter games.

"Lastly, there is a hopeful breeze of alacrity and new-born confidence about the campus which has seemed to spring up, almost over-night, to welcome the new director of athletics. It is not the least of the recommendations of George Little that he comes to us from the University of Michigan and that their unbounded good wishes come with him. The new director is young, robust, well-trained, with a wonderful optimism and geniality of temper; shrewd and fearless in addressing himself to the responsibilities of his position; generous toward his associates, and unsparing of himself. He is a keen lover of sport, with a healthy, hearty delight in competition, has a contagious sympathy for young men, and best of all, perhaps, has a broad and high and inspiring conception of athletics as a part of life and a means of education.

"The new director is invested with all necessary authority and apparently with every quality to lead us long and well. For thousands of Wisconsin hearts there is new depth and meaning in 'On Wisconsin.'

PROF. J. F. A. PYRE

And so, it seems that good things are happening. There will be more. An alert faculty and an interested and helpful student body are contributing to the improvement of the university in every way they can with what they have. Little more can be done to move the whole university forward without the necessary money. Business Manager Phillips can be found almost day and night in the Administration building worrying over the university's budget and its needs, trying to make the widely separated ends meet. At the other end of State street the legislature is in session. All eyes and hopes are centered there. With it lies the future of the university.

ALUMNI HANDBOOK

TRANSCRIPTIONS OF POPULAR SONGS

Ali alone, beastly all alone,
And there's no one else but me.
All alone, with my saxophone,
Longing for the day when I can play.

I'm all alone, 'cause I bother
Other boys on my floor:
When I start to play,
They all go away—

And, alone, I find saxophones bore.

MILK-DRINKERS WARNING

If the bird who gets milk delivered to the Union ruin every day doesn't reveal his identity to Rockets within twenty-four hours, we are going to start emptying the bottles daily ourselves.

WE RECOMMEND:
FOR CARL RUSSELL FISH: A vest with steel armholes.

FOR THE OCTOPUS: Salesgirls with softer voices.

FOR THE DRIVER: A turnstile charging five cents admission. (Big chance for somebody to clean up some dough here.)

FOR THE LIT MAG TEAS: Less lemons and more sugar.

H. H. H. observes that Madison is quite a weather beaten town. Two weeks ago we enjoyed "Blossom Time;" last week we witnessed a "Tornado," and "Rain" is predicted for this week.

Local Legitimate Comes Into Its Own; Movies Look Good

By H. E. R.

With "Rain" being produced at the Parkway tonight and tomorrow, and Fiske O'Hara coming to the same theater the next week-end, it would seem that Madison is finally getting its share of road shows. And from the titles of the stock company plays that are to be playing next week, we should say that the legitimate stage should come into its own.

The Strand will try to counteract any such popularity by showing a pictorial biography of Abraham Lincoln. George Billings plays the part of Abe, and makes a strong attempt to appear as he must have during the different stages of his life, according to reviews. The picture portrays all of the dramatic incidents in the life of Lincoln.

Then for the last half of the week the theater will present Milton Sills and Viola Dana in "As Man Desires." The scenes are to represent the South Sea Isles and the high seas, and from the synopsis of the play, we gleaned the facts that it is a drama of misunderstanding, in which the heroine ends up by placing herself in front of a fast moving bullet. It should make a good picture to watch.

At the Parkway the first three days will be "Forbidden Paradise," a production including Pola Negri, Rod LaRocque, and Adolphe Menjou. We are given the information that anything else that Pola Negri has done will immediately fade into the background when this is shown. Then "Secrets of the Night," a mystery melodrama which entails the use of James Kirkwood, Madge Bellamy, Zasu Pitts, and others will be shown for the next two days. The big finish of the week will be Fiske O'Hara and company in "The Big Mogul," a comedy melodrama, concerning the adventures of an ex-plumber, who was willed $7,000,000, and attempted to play "horse" with some Wall street magnates. It will be a musical show, featuring the hits written by O'Hara.

Bebe Daniels will be the opening picture of the week at the Madison theater. The name of the production is "Miss Bluebeard," and the prospective victim of the Miss is Raymond Griffith. This is the first appearance of Bebe in Madison in quite a time, and we are looking forward to it. In keeping with the approaching Easter time, the picture for the last half of the week will be the great passion play, "The Life of Christ."

The Majestic is going to try to put across "Merton of the Movies" in great shape, judging from the preliminary rehearsals. This play needs no recommendations, having been shown here in picture form a

Romance in Western Country is Theme of Strand Picture

"Frivolous Sal,"
Featuring O'Brien and Murray,
Presented at the Strand

By R. S.

Fate turns again on the challenge of a woman's smile and gives us a picture of romance and adventure set in the hearts of the Rocky mountains in the famous Placer valley. What would have happened if Roland Keene, played by Eugene O'Brien, had not scorned the advances of the idol of the mining camp, Sal Flood (Mae Murray), does not matter. Anyway, he did, and from that moment on a conquest for love in which overwhelming obstacles are surmounted, carries us through a picture thrilling with action.

The old theme of the child deserted by his father after his mother's death is worked up into a new story which wins your sympathy for Benny Keene, played by Ben Alexander, from the moment he boards the western train to go in search of his beloved daddy. Nor can you resist that tightening of the throat when Sal forgoes her honeymoon to stay and be a mother to her husband's son. It isn't an easy task, as Sal soon finds, but she accomplishes it, with experiences both appealing and convincing.

Eugene is not up to his usual stuff as the irresistible hero this time, but this new role of the weak and impressionable n'er-do-well is interesting.

He comes out all right in the end, but not without the help of his loyal little son and his adoring wife. Tom Santschi, as Steve MacGregor, stands by as the rejected sweetheart but the staunch friend, while "Red" Osner (Mitchell Lewis) plays the villain with realistic force. The entire picture is well-casted and worth seeing, if you like a touch of romance in the midst of exciting western adventure.

PHYSICAL ED ALUMNI MAGAZINE IS ON SALE

The first publication of the "Bulletin," published by the alumni of the physical education department, has been on sale this week. Open sales are being conducted in Lathrop hall.

short while ago. We will be interested in seeing the portrayals of the characters of the play by the local company.

"Civilian Clothes" will be the name of next week's play at the Orpheum. This is the show that William Courtney starred in, and can be guaranteed as genuine comedy. The reason for the choice is connected with Military ball next week-end, and it is intended to run along pre-Prom lines.

Smart Clothes

BEGINNING THIS MONTH WE HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE AGENCY IN MADISON

STEIN-BLOCH have long had the reputation of tailoring the finest ready-to-wear clothing.

For over seventy years their outstanding style and skilled hand-tailoring have been the sterling mark for clothing quality in America.

Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes are sold in London side by side with the flower of English styles. What higher tribute could be paid to their authentic correctness of design and detail?

We, who are jealous of our reputation as quality clothiers, are proud to be selling Stein-

Bloch Smart Clothes and know that you will be equally proud in wearing them.

We realize, however, that not enough men take sufficient time to find out just the style in clothes they want to buy before they buy them, so we have inaugurated an Interval of Inspection during which our new Stein-Bloch's may be viewed by any customers without "please, Mister, buy!" Walk in; walk around; walk out. Nobody has authority to stop you without request except the style authority of the clothes.
