Why is it that in China, in Alaska, in the Islands of the Pacific, in New York, in Seattle, in San Francisco, in Minneapolis, in Chicago, in Milwaukee, in all the counties of Wisconsin, beside Lake Mendota, Memorial Union Building and everywhere, that University of Wisconsin men are found, committees are meeting and funds are being gathered for this great work? It is because we love our University, because we know its need for that building which is planned; it is because we believe in the student activities which it shall house; because we believe in the debating societies, those institutions that give of the best to those who take advantage of their privileges; because we believe in the student publications, the newspapers, the magazines, and the annuals, because we believe in the dramatic work and all similar undertakings; because we believe in healthy social advantages; because we believe in good food, in hard work and in hard play; because we believe in the memories of our University that we take into our active lives, and would, for those who come after, add to the elms, the lake, and the hills, the picture of a supremely beautiful building built by those who love us best; because we are justly proud of our Alma Mater and are determined that in the hour of need she shall never call upon us in vain; because we are in her debt for our educations; because we are bent upon proving to our State, by substantial evidence, that we believe in the work which is here being carried on; because we are ashamed to be less helpful to our University than other students and alumni are to theirs; because we glory in the record of our men and women in the great war and would write that record imperishably at the spot whence they entered the strife; because we believe, with them, in our University's motto of "Service;" because we would teach all who are to follow, as they taught, that in men, as in nations, only those who give shall receive; because each of us must have a worthy share in the common heritage; because not to contribute as our means permit us will be to deny ourselves a privilege; because we will please all those living and all those dead in whose honor this work shall be done.—G. I. HAIGHT, '99.

Among the many public spirited citizens whose interests in state universities are constantly increasing are a number of men and women of large private fortunes. Were our University not a public institution its officers Funds could probably make successful solicitation of funds from some of these men of wealth. While in educational institutions not supported by taxation one of the most important qualifications of the president frequently has been the ability to secure private endowments and contributions, there is almost an unwritten law of long established custom against such activities on the part of officers of publicly supported universities.

Nevertheless our University already has been the fortunate recipient of a number of generous private gifts. Adams, Bradley, Brittingham, Jackson, Lewis, Tripp, Vilas, and Washburn will be gratefully remembered as long as this institution continues.

What worthier use could a wealthy philanthropist make of his funds than to endow a school of applied medicine at Wisconsin? Could one build a more lasting monument than by supplying funds to fight disease? Can wealth be used to a better purpose than to unselfishly promote knowledge? Social science, political problems, scientific research, agricultural experiments, art, literature, and law all need liberal financial backing in a growing modern educational institution. More money, indeed, is needed than any university official would ever feel justified in requesting from the legislature, notwithstanding the fact that in Wisconsin our legislature has expressed in the past, and will doubtlessly continue to express in the future, growing public confidence in the great service rendered by the University of Wisconsin in the liberal appropriations granted.

That the public is all the more willing to tax itself for its own university when that university so commands the confidence of successful individuals that they make generous gifts—free from ulterior motive or desire of restrictive control—to the university, has been completely established by authorities in political science and economics. To the names of private benefactors already mentioned may others be added! Perhaps you can add yours? Perhaps you are closely acquainted with some one who would thank you for bringing this opportunity for service to his attention? Perhaps your local U. W. club has the facilities for giving this matter publicity among philanthropists in your community? "Friends of the University, and especially alumni should come to its help, since the legislature will never become so generous in its appropriations as to make private gifts undesirable or unnecessary."

How the future of the nation is tied up with its universities was referred to in an address recently by President Lowell of Harvard. His observations call for some sober reflection: "Did it ever

What Universities Contribute occur to you that the most enduring institutions man has founded are his universities? Did it ever occur to you that the universities of the Middle Ages lived through all the changes that have taken place since then? Did it ever occur to you that the University of Paris has seen all the upheavals within the sound of the Sorbonne, and has survived them all? Did it ever occur to you that Oxford and Cambridge have lived through the War of the Roses and through the English Revolution, and have continued to be just as vital and just as strong as they ever were before? Why is that? It is because the university really contributes to the highest in civilization something that is eternal." Many people travel through the world so fast that they haven't time to see any of the things they pass by.—Cardinal

BAND REUNION JUNE 20-23

ALUMNI BOARD MEETING

BY LILLIAN TAYLOR, '05, Recording Secretary

THE meeting of the Alumni Board held April 10, 1 to 4 P. M., at the Madison Club, was attended by the following: President Clausen, '97, Vice-President McConnell, '87, Recording Secretary Lillian Taylor, '05, Treasurer Brown, '81, Professor Van Hagan, '04, and Dr. Victor Falk, '11. (Secretary Crawford, '03, read a letter from J. S. Lord, '04, who expressed regret on being unexpectedly prevented from attending the meeting.)

The plans for commencement received chief attention. (Details of the general schedule for Baccalaureate Sunday, Class Day, Alumni Day, and Commencement Day—June 20 to 23—are printed on the back cover page.)

It was the unanimous opinion of the Alumni Board that all classes and all local U. W. clubs should send official representatives to the meeting of the Alumni Council. Local clubs particularly are asked to consider the feasibility of paying the railroad fare of their secretary or other duly chosen representative to the Alumni Council Meeting. The importance of the Alumni Council as a representative legislative body was emphasized.

The proposed Band Reunion received the hearty endorsement of the Board. The Board also expressed pleasure on being informed that Director of Athletics, T. E. Jones, would provide a baseball contest between Wisconsin and some other large state university on the afternoon of Alumni Day.

The Board expressed pleasure that the building now known as Main Hall was to be formally dedicated with fitting ceremonial exercises as "Bascom Hall" in honor of former President Bascom. It was agreed that the Board heartily urge the cooperation by all who return for the commencement season with the University authorities in making these dedicatory exercises impressively successful. Acting on the suggestion of the chairman of the Committee on Public Functions the Board set aside from 10 until 12 on Tuesday morning for the "Bascom Hall" dedication.

The Board feels that returning graduates will be greatly pleased if all special class activities, class functions, and class and private parties be arranged for days other than Tuesday June 22, Alumni Day. On this matter the cooperation of chairmen in charge of class reunions is solicited.

President Clausen named C. N. Brown and Mrs. T. E. Brittingham, '89, as the committee to arrange for the Alumni Dinner. It is understood that the Alumni Reception and Dance will be in charge of Professor Julius Olson, '84, chairman of the Committee on Public Functions, assisted by members of the Alumni Board. President Clausen asked that Professor Van Hagan continue as chairman of the Membership Committee and that C. B. Rogers, '93, continue as chairman of the Funds Committee. These appointments were unanimously approved. The President also stated that a chairman of the Legislative Committee would be named later.

Secretary Crawford reported that as Vice-president of the Association of Alumni Secretaries he had received a special request from President Levering Tyson, secretary of the Alumni Association of Columbia, urging that the presidents of alumni organizations meet with the alumni secretaries at their annual convention in Ann Arbor, May 15 to 17. Whereupon the Board unanimously requested President Clausen to attend the National Convention of Alumni Secretaries. President Clausen stated that at this early date he was unable to be sure that he could get away on the dates mentioned but that he would give the matter careful consideration and would notify the secretary if he could possibly arrange to attend.

Meeting adjourned.

FOUNDERS' DAY

PROBABLY the greatest student convocation ever held in Madison as a regular University function during peace times was the celebration of Founders' Day on February 20, the first Friday of the second semester. The lives of the founders of the Nation and the founders of the University were appropriately and fittingly commemorated.

Dean Sellery, in opening the meeting, spoke in substance as follows: "It was one of the happiest inspirations of our fertile-minded friend, Professor Olson, who has arranged so many successful programs, to associate Founders' Day with the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. The natal days of these greatest Americans and of our University occur in February and they are naturally associated together by us of Wisconsin. The spirit which animated them, moreover, the spirit of high consecration to our country, of indomitable courage and of farsightedness for the higher welfare of the generations to come, recommends a joint celebration of their services. And finally the linking together of these pioneers of Americanism in a university day of commemoration gives a steadiness in these days of social unrest, when groups of men—small groups, we trust,—assert their intention to overthrow by force the institutions which we have inherited from the fathers, and to set up by force a régime which scorns the counsels of the past.

"It is not safe for a people to cut itself loose from the past, for civilization is a slow and painful growth of accumulated things, of habits, ideals, wisdom. A university audience understands this, for universities exist to transmit the inheritance of the past, to increase the treasured store, and to apply it or make it ready to be applied to the ever-changing needs of the present and the future.

"And an audience of Americans understands it, too, for we look back to the slow and painful growth of liberty from Magna Charta to Cromwell, from Cromwell to the matchless Washington, from Washington to our beloved Lincoln, and from him to our leaders of the present day. We venerate the historic civilized home in which we live, and we venerate its architects and builders. If I may continue the metaphor, I would say that it is our American habit, if we discover a hole in the roof of that historic house of our civilization, to repair the roof, and not to burn the house down.

This habit of ours, I believe, represents the true progressive spirit, which values our inheritance and adjusts it to meet our growing needs.

"We have the true spirit of progress, but there is some danger that we may under-value the foundation work of our ancestral leaders. This celebration, and other celebrations like it in the years to come, will have a heartening and steadying influence, keeping us true to the genius of our country."

Dr. C. H. Vilas

It is tantalizing to try to explain the charm which Dr. Vilas' short address had for all who were privileged to hear him. His graciousness and dignity, his simplicity and seriousness and humor, his personal embodiment of the past and the present,—these somehow or other caused his descriptions of the early chancellors, students, buildings, and conditions to evoke the times that are gone as surely and as vitally as Bonnet's playing of Frescobaldi enables us to touch hands with the Church of the early seventeenth century. Those who heard Dr. Vilas speak will not forget, and would not have missed, the spell which he wove about them.

In subsequent editions we hope to have the pleasure of printing the charming speech entitled "Changing Ideals" by Frances Tucker, '21, and also a stirring address "The Evolution of the Wisconsin Spirit" by LeRoy Burlingame, '18. Possibly Prof. A. B. Hall's interesting paper entitled "The Democracy of Washington and Lincoln" may seem somewhat beyond the field of our alumni publication, but as it is "a flash light on present day problems" we feel that graduates will read with interest this optimistic solution of some of the present day Bolshevistic tendencies. Consequently we shall also try to secure Professor Hall's address for publication later.

The Band under Y. E. Yates, the Girls' Glee Club, directed by Dr. C. E. Mills, the Men's Glee Club, trained by Prof. E. E. Swinney, and the Choral Union, directed by Prof. P. W. Dykema have received much praise for the important part they rendered in the success of this great Founders' Day celebration.

Miles Riley, '09, chairman of the Dane County committee on the Union Memorial Building, made a spirited plea for open and enthusiastic manifestation of student support for the proposed Memorial Union project. He told the students that on March 15, "an active campaign will be started throughout the world to raise $750,000 for the Wisconsin Memorial. The spirit of Wisconsin days, reflected in the present student body will go a long way in putting across the big campaign."

We are so accustomed to have the chairman of the Committee on Public Functions, Prof. J. E. Olson, successfully carry out these University programs, that we are apt to forget to credit and thanks [him not only for outlining the main features of the program, but also for attending to the hundred and one worrying innumerable details connected with printing the programs themselves.

We should not overlook the great ultimate benefits that come from such a gathering at the University.

Hundreds of these students will carry with them through life, distinct impressions of this meeting, and will be leaders in subsequent observations of Founders' Day held by alumni through out the world.

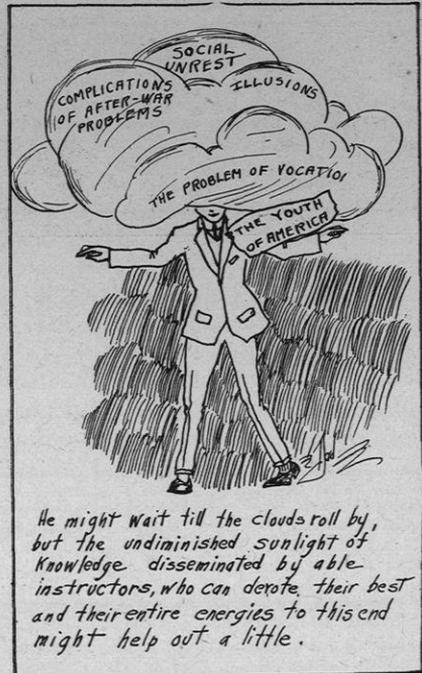

J.E. Olson

Appreciating that in any attempt to cover even in a brief way, so elaborate a meeting as this great convocation, we may have sacrificed the spirit of the occasion in the account of various details, we quote a single statement by a student who was asked to explain the profound impression made by our eminent alumnus, Dr. C. H. Vilas, '65. She said, "the President of the Board of Regents successfully conveyed to the student body the composite spirit of the University of Wisconsin from its earliest beginning to the present day." This, we believe, expresses the ideal observation of Founders' Day. Not only upon the student body, but also upon mature members of the faculty, Doctor Vilas made a permanent impression which reflected itself in other features of this great program.

ALUMNI DIRECTORY

The copy has been in the hands of the University editor for some months. He has been doing all in his power to hasten publication. As soon as the book is ready announcement will appear in the MAGAZINE. The former offer of a charge not exceeding "two-bits" to cover mailing, etc., applies to all members whose dues are not in arrears and to all new members who join before the forms go on the press. Spread this good news! Your patience has been appreciated. Until the final announcement is furnished by the University editor we are as much in the dark as any one else as to how soon the printer can complete the book. The printer is doing his best. Labor is scarce and delivery of materials is slow. Here's hoping that the Directory may be ready soon.

WISCONSIN ALUMNI CLUBS

"Sit together, listen together, sing together, eat together, and talk together, and you'll work together."

CHICAGO

By C. L. BYRON, '08,

IN the month ending April 9th, three of our four weekly luncheons held Friday noon at the Chicago City Club, were strictly family affairs, no special programs having been prepared. A special program, however, is not necessary for the entertainment of Wisconsinites, for at these informal gatherings there is something doing every minute.

On April 9, we were expecting Henry J. Smith, '77, to make his appearance after a few month's honeymoon trip to the Hawaiian Islands. He will tell us about his trip in the near future.

Our shop talks continue to be a big success. W. P. Carroll, '04, on March 26th, gave most of us our first lesson in Grain Inspection. His talk was very interesting and instructive.

CLEVELAND

By D. Y. SWATY, '98

We were very fortunate in having both Professors Thomas Lloyd Jones and Skinner with us on Feb. 25, and the twenty-five alumni present felt that we had been brought in closer touch with our Alma Mater as a result of the talks given us. Hope we can enjoy more like them.

FOND DU LAC

The alumni of Fond du Lac held a get-together meeting at the Palmer House, March 9. Among the speakers were Dean S. H. Goodnight, and Regent W. J. Kohler.

JANESVILLE

At a meeting held March 1, in the Chamber of Commerce, the alumni of Janesville decided to form a local club. O. A. Oestreich, '97, was appointed acting chairman of the organization.

NEW ENGLAND

By S. B. GROOM, '13

The New England Alumni Association started with a dinner in Boston at the Hotel Thorndike, on March 25. About thirty-five were present. Lewis McGilvary, '16, son of Professor McGilvary, was elected president, and Samuel Groom, '13, was chosen secretary-treasurer. About $600 was pledged for the new Memorial Union Building campaign. There are about 150 Wisconsin alumni in Boston and vicinity. Mrs. John Murdoch, (Abby Stuart), '76, attended the dinner and told us about the University of her day.

NEW YORK CITY

By A. R. TAYLOR, '14

A dinner was held at the Hotel Commodore, on Friday, March 12. We had 146 in attendance which is, with one exception, the largest gathering of former Wisconsin students in the history of the local association. Dean Stone of the Columbia Law School made an appeal to those present to let the Regents know that we have faith in the progress and future of the University and that one of the most vital things at the present time is adequate compensation for the instructional staff. Dr. Reinsch, '92, recalled with pleasure his association with American university people during his residence in China, and paid a strong tribute to the work of Jack Childs, '11, in maintaining the traditions of American universities among the Chinese who have returned to their own country.

Dr. Reinsch closed his remarks with an appeal for a hearty response to the campaign for the Union Memorial Building. E. F. Rice, '08, president of the Philadelphia Association of Wisconsin Alumni, extended a hearty invitation to all present to attend the dinner to be given on March 27, in Philadelphia, in honor of President Birge. The appointment of an Athletic Liason Committee was announced and the personnel of the committee is—W. D. Richardson, ex '10, Chairman, W. D. Harvey, '16, and W. F. Clifford, '16. A new constitution and by-laws for the "University of Wisconsin Alumni Association in New York" were adopted. L. F. Brumm, '14, chairman of the local committee of the Union Memorial Building campaign, made a brief statement as to the plans and progress of the campaign. After the dinner the room was cleared and the guests spent the remainder of the evening in dancing.

PHILADELPHIA

BY ERNEST F. RICE '08

The University of Wisconsin Club of Philadelphia had the good fortune and extreme pleasure of entertaining President Birge at a dinner held at the College Club on Saturday evening, March 27.

To those who knew him as Dean, as the Preceptor, and as the Disciplinarian, his talk was a revelation, and the ovation which he received showed in unmistakable terms that the Philadelphia alumni heartily endorse the Regents' choice in appointing a man with such goodness of heart, such clearness of vision, and such love for his work as President of the Greatest University.

As the correspondent of the small town paper would say—Among those who were present for the first time, we noticed W. E. Dodds, '82, who promised us a long time ago that he would attend regularly; Horace W. Wright, '08, now teaching at Bryn Mawr College, brought his new wife; Chapin Roberts, '11, also had his blushing bride; Laura Cadwallader, '16, who is teaching here; J. A. Stolze, '19, and King Woodward, '19, medics at the U. of P.; Parry Paul, '18; Roscoe Patt, '15; R. B. Kile, '15; and Charles Andrews, '18, and a lot of others. Hope they all enjoyed themselves as much as they said they did, and will attend regularly hereafter.

We also launched our drive for the Memorial Union Building project and we know that we will be able to announce shortly that Philadelphia went "Over the top," judging from the encouragement and support given Mrs. Frederick Corbus (Florence Ketchum), '01, chairman of the local committee.

POCATELLO

BY F. C. MCGOWAN, '01

The Pocatello Alumni Association of the University of Wisconsin was organized in the Grill Room of the new million dollar Bannock Hotel on St. Patrick's Day. #### PULLMAN, WASHINGTON

BY F. D. HEALD, '94

The Wisconsin graduates of Washington State College were entertained at a get-together dinner at the home of the writer on Saturday, March 6. The evening was most enjoyably spent talking over experiences at our Alma Mater. There was an unusual flow of wit and wisdom, Dean Rhoda M. White, '06, and Prof. F. J. Sievers, '10, being the principal offenders. The group organized themselves as a Wisconsin Club and planned to have regular get-together meetings. Although we cannot compete with the St. Paul or New York clubs in numbers we adopted the motto, "Watch us Grow," and this should be of interest to Wisconsin graduates. After singing good old "Varsity" and giving the University yell the embryonic club adjourned—but it was almost Sunday morning.

SCHENECTADY CLUB

By E. S. HENNINGSEN, '12

The Schenectady Alumni Club held its annual meeting and dinner Saturday evening, April 10. It used to be the practice of the club to stage a bowling match between the married and single alumni just before the annual meeting, but since Roy (Stuffy) Muir, '05, joined the Order of Benedicts last January, the married men form sixty-eight per cent of the membership and such a division is no longer fair. This year the bowling match was between the "Old Timers" who have been here since 1911 and before, and the "Youngsters" from 1912 and on. The match showed that the "Old Timers" could more than hold their own against the youngsters.

No regular program was arranged for the dinner other than a free for all discussion of old times at Wisconsin. The prize for telling the largest and most interesting number of anecdotes went to J. E. Brobst, '03, and since this is the third successive time he has won, it will remain forever in his possession.

E. S. Henningsen, '12, was elected president and M. A. Whiting, '04, secretary for the coming year. The club holds regular monthly luncheons which are scheduled for the last Wednesday of each month.

WASHINGTON

By LOUISE EVANS, '09

A banquet at the Garden Tea House, March 29, at which President

Birge was the guest of honor, proved to be our most successful function of the year. The capacity of the dining room was taxed to the utmost.

Ex-governor McGovern, '90, now chief counsel for the Shipping Board, made a very delightful toastmaster. His two connections with the University he referred to as his "first and second Olympiad." Many interesting stories of the University and its president were disclosed during the evening.

President Birge, or "Dean Birge" as he is fondly remembered by the graduates, came to Washington in the course of a trip through the East, having previously met with the alumni of New York and Philadelphia. It was the first time most of us had seen him since assuming the presidency, and the cordiality of his reception was marked. He talked about the present conditions at the University, including the increases in number of students, appropriations, salaries, housing, soldier students, proposed Memorial Building, even unto the traffic rules for Main Hall. Then he took up the problem of enlarging the University to meet the needs of the State and the demands of the people, pointing out the aims to be kept in mind and emphasizing the relation of the alumni of a state university to their Alma Mater. "Their support should be a spiritual support," said the president. "The alumni should take a long look into the future and make preparations so that future generations may be provided for according to an ever raising standard."

Congressman A. P. Nelson, ex-president of the Board of Regents, followed. He paid a glowing tribute to President Birge and to the University, emphasizing the moral and intellectual force of education and its influence in counteracting Bolshevism.

Colonel Ralph Hess, '08, a former professor at Wisconsin, was introduced as the man who had received the most promotions in rank during the war of any of the members of the faculty, a distinction he himself claimed was unwarranted. He spoke on the relation of the University to military preparedness. Colonel Hess left a few days later for Europe on a special mission for the War Department.

Commissioner B. H. Meyer, '94, reported on the Memorial Union Building subscriptions. The committee is finding this a wonderful occasion for revision of the mailing list—probably the Washington population has shifted more than that of any other city in the country during the past year. For this reason, the work for the memorial fund is possibly proceeding more slowly than in many other places, but the committee reports progress.

ATHLETICS

BASEBALL

Coach M. A. Kent

COACH M. A. Kent has built up a baseball team which looked good, especially on the defensive, in its practice games. Four Badger pitchers yielded one lone hit in two preliminary contests, Milton College being defeated 2 to 0 and Champion College 4 to 0, two different pitchers working in each contest.

Anthony Zulfer and Samuel Ogle, '20, Allen Miller and Frank Williams,

'21, are the quartet of pitchers who showed to best advantage in the pre-conference games. Allen Davey, '21, and Lawrence Barry, '22, are the catchers, with Captain "Bud" Emmanuel available for either backstop or outfield work.

George Willigrod, '22, showed unusual promise at first base in the preliminary games. Glen Gifford, '21, playing second base, and Edward Farrington, '20, at shortstop, looked to be good hitters as well as clever fielders. Carson F. Lyman, '21, the only veteran in the infield, found his position at third warmly contested by Philip Falk, '21.

FOOTBALL

A squad of ninety candidates signed up for spring football practice, forty of them members of the varsity squad, and fifty sophomores and freshmen who elected football for gym credit. The opening drill, April 8, was conducted by Capt. F. L. Weston and H. L. Cramer of the coaching staff.

Coach John Richards was not on hand for the first practice, but was expected to make several trips from Chicago to get acquainted with his material and lay out the work of his assistants. The spring drill consists almost entirely of rudimentary work, such as passing and handling the ball.

Prospects for next fall may well be said to be brighter than in 1919 in view of the fact that only three or possibly four "W" men will have left Wisconsin. Besides Captains Paul Meyers and Charles Carpenter, end and center respectively, and Martin Fladoes, tackle, the only veteran who is not enrolled this semester is Full-back G. R. Jacobi.

In addition to the large number of letter men, there will be an unprecedented wealth of new material available from the powerful freshman eleven, which included service men and others entering from minor colleges, training camps, and normal schools, all of whom had more or less previous experience but were ineligible because of insufficient previous residence.

DEATHS

STODDARD JESS, ex'76, died in a hospital near Los Angeles, Calif., on Feb. 2. Mr. Jess was born at Fox Lake in 1857. After leaving the University he became connected with the First National Bank of Fox Lake. Later he followed his father in a search for health to Pomona, Calif., where he organized the First National Bank. After serving here for nine years his unusual ability caused him to be called to Los Angeles as vice-president of the First National Bank of that city. From that time on he was closely connected with the social, financial, commercial, industrial, and civic life of that metropolis. At different times he was president of the Los Angeles Clearing Association, president of the First National Bank, officer of the American Banker's Association, and head of the Harbor Commission. His was the accomplishment of ridding civic government of partisan politics, and of placing agricultural credit in Southern California on a sound basis. He was also prominent in Masonic circles. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi while in the University.

MRS. GEORGE MANSON (Elizabeth Scholfield), '81, died in Seattle, in July, 1919. Beside her sisters she leaves one son, Ned, a resident of Seattle.

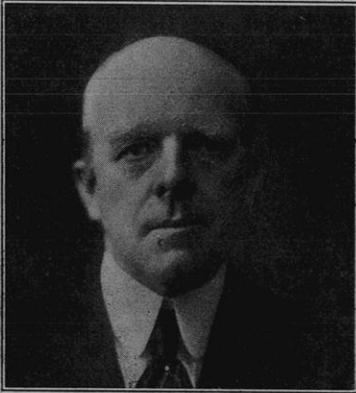

FREDERICK A. TEALL, '85, Milwaukee lawyer, died recently in Texas, where he had gone to regain his health.

JUDGE GEORGE CLEMENTSON, dean in the Wisconsin circuit bench, died at his home in Lancaster, March 30. He is survived by his wife, one son, and one daughter.

HENRY SHERWOOD YOUKER, '94, died suddenly, on Jan. 31, at his home in New York City, in his forty-ninth year.

Mr. Youker was born in Portland, April 15, 1871. His early years were spent on his father's farm. In 1888 he graduated from the high school at Waterloo, and two years later entered the University of Wisconsin, from which he graduated in 1894. Later he spent a year doing post graduate work at the University of Chicago.

After leaving college his first work was in the employ of the Associated Charities in Cincinnati, O., where he spent six months. From this position he became a teacher in the high school at Evansville, and shortly after became principal of the high school at Poynette, remaining for three years. The next two years saw him occupying the same position at Brodhead. He did much real constructive work in the educational field, occupying the superintendency of the schools of Grand Rapids, and later being the principal of the training department of the Oshkosh Normal.

H. S. Youker

In 1897 he was united in marriage to Mary J. Wardle, of Poynette.

Mr. Youker's business career was confined to his activities with The Curtis Publishing Company as assistant director of the Division of Commercial Research in 1913, in which connection he remained until 1919, when he became director of the Commercial Research Department of the International Magazine Company. In this work he left an indelible imprint upon the minds of his associates of what a force his inspiring simplicity, character, personality and ability were to them.

While at college he was a member of Theta Delta Chi, and later became a member of the Mount Moriah Lodge No. 155 F. and A. M., of Philadelphia, of Tyrian Chapter No. 15 R. A. M. of Oshkosh, of the Oshkosh Commandery No. 11, and of Aleppo Temple A. A. O. N. M. S., of Boston, Mass. He was also a member of the University Club at Philadelphia.

The funeral services were held at Poynette, at which the speakers were, Reverend Fleet of the Methodist Church of Poynette, C. L. Harper, '98, of the Dept. of Public Instruction, and Senator I. I. P. Witter of Grand Rapids; a delegation of Knight Templars attended from Madison, and the services were concluded by the Masons, who assumed charge of the grave.

Those who were associated with Henry Sherwood Youker feel that in his death they have lost a friend, and that the advertising profession has lost a man of the highest calibre.—C. C. PARLIN, '93.

MRS. J. M. STEVENS (Caro Bucey), '96, Ocean City, N. J., died in September, 1919.

WILLIAM ERIC CHATTERTON, 'ex'12, died recently at the home of his parents in Belleville.

GLADYS MARIE DANCE, wife of James Dance, '15, died at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Milwaukee March 6. Death was due to complications resulting from an attack of heart trouble. Mr. and Mrs. Dance were farming at Brookfield.

ERNA KIEKHOFER, '20, Milwaukee, died April 2. Miss Kiekhofer left the University last fall owing to ill health.

U. W. SONG BOOK

The Song Book Committee of the U. W. Club of Chicago has awarded the first prize of $50 to Mrs. W. C. Bennett (Jean Louise Menzies) ex'93, Madison, for her song, entitled "The Green Cap." No second prize was awarded due to the fact that the number of songs submitted was not sufficient to enable the committee to make a proper selection for the second prize. The song contest for the subsequent edition of the Song Book following the forthcoming edition is now open, with a first prize of $50 and a second prize of $25, to be awarded at the close of the contest hereafter. The new edition of the Song Book will be on sale in Madison about the end of April, and it will probably sell at $1.25 per copy.—U. of W. Club of Chicago—By Fred D. ## The Class of 1915

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

WE ARE COMING BACK IN 1920

Address All Communications to
 W. A. FOSTER
 Elkhorn, Wisconsin

ELKHORN, WISCONSIN,
 April 10, 1920.

Dear Classmate and Friend:

Our first class reunion will be held in Madison June 20 to 23.

For five years you have looked forward to this event. You have often wondered where your old friends were and what they were doing. Come back and see them again.

The committees are working to provide entertainment and excitement which will make you forever remember this reunion. Everyone expects the 1915 reunion in June to be the biggest ever staged. Plan now to come.

The band will have a reunion of all former members of all classes. This will add enthusiasm and music to reunion week.

The executive committee of the class has so much confidence in the response which you will make that they have decided to levy an assessment of only $3.00 against each member of the class, instead of $5.00 as was done last year. This assessment goes to pay for the necessary publicity, regalia, house rent, class dinner, luncheon and entertainment which goes to make the reunion a success. Any balance will go to the general class fund for use as determined by the class at the reunion.

Kindly mail today check, draft or money order for the $3.00 to Harry Herzog, class treasurer, at Racine, Wisconsin. Receipt will be acknowledged.

Talk reunion, think reunion from now until June. Mention it in letters to former classmates. Help us to get the largest number back for this reunion ever back for any other class. 1915 wants your support. 1915 needs it. 1915 expects it. We know we can rely on you.

Most sincerely yours,

THE CLASS OF 1915,
By the Executive Committee.

Letters have been received from several who have never attended a reunion saying they will be present this year. You will probably receive a personal letter from the committee soon, telling of its plans for our entertainment. Is your class letter in the hands of the historian? If not, send it in without delay. ### NYNTEENTEN REUNION

June 20-21-22-23

Emmett A. Donnelly
Reunion Chairman
1032 Wells Bldg., Milwaukee

After five years, during which time there have been many futile attempts to equal the epoch making Quinquennial of Nyn-teenten, the world's greatest class reunion will again exhibit on the old show grounds.

The class secretary after a brief and hopeless struggle to keep from sinking into the innocuous desuetude which is traditional with that office, has succeeded in persuading Emmett Donnelly to pass the ginger jar and make Nyn-teenten's Decennial the greatest masto-donic spectacle under canvas.

Emmett will free the Wham's kizzle from the bonds of silence which have held him captive since his New York debut in 1916. He will write the glowing announcements which will lure you to the best time you have had in five years; he will worry about the funds, the costumes, the green balloons and the pink lemonades while we, the class secretary, will flick the ash from our Camel and regret that we cannot be of more assistance. And you, the Class, will start with feigned indifference and end up in a snake dance down State Street.

Follow these few simple instructions and happiness will be yours:

- (1) If you've moved much in the last five years, send your present address to Emmett.
- (2) If you've changed your name often during the last five years, send your latest appellation to Emmett.
- (3) Make arrangements now to arrive in Madison some time on Saturday, June 19, and to stay until Wednesday, June 23.
- (4) Bring friend wife or friend husband. The reunion will teem with information for them.

Missives of lurid color and verbiage will reach you at frequent intervals to apprise you of the development of the plot.

THE GOOD FAIRY

By T. E. M. HEFFERAN '18

I send you a moulded bit of brightness,
Arms out, head flung to windy sky;
A tip-toe Fairy cast in whiteness,
Light as a leaflet tossed on high.

"I breathe of freedom," cries the Fairy
"I am the flower on the hill;
I am the laugh of children merry,
I am the summer wind's own will.

"I am a fresh and smiling sunbeam,
Life is my cry to heaven above;
I am a leaping, laughing day-dream,
I am Earth's finest, I am Love."

(Lt. Thomas Hefferan, who was killed in action at Chateau Thierry August 1, 1918, wrote the above poem and sent it to C. R. Grosser, '18, some years ago. The verses were inspired by Mrs. Raleigh's little "Welcome Statue.")

BOOK NOTES

Principles of Veterinary Science, by F. B. Hadley, professor of veterinary science (W. B. Saunders Co., Phila.) The edition is a development of the author's former publication entitled, "The Horse in Health and Disease," the contents of which have been amplified to meet the growing needs of animal husbandmen. The first half of the book is devoted to the structure and functions of the animal body, which are treated in such a way that the student may readily use the information in judging animal form, capacity, and productivity, as well as in the problems connected with feeding and breeding. In the second part the student is shown how to recognize sickness in animals, render first aid treatment, and prevent diseases. Prof. J. B. Paige of the Massachusetts Agricultural College offers the following comment on Dr. Hadley's work: "I feel that you are entitled to many compliments for the make-up of the book, in so far as the selection and arrangement of material is concerned. It seems to me that it is certainly logical to lay down the foundation for the study of pathology by a study of the fundamental basic subjects of anatomy and physiology. As far as my own experience goes I have never had any sympathy with the presentation of the medical science without first having laid a strong foundation upon which it might rest."

CAMPUS NOTES

Gladys Borchers, '22, a member of Pythia, will represent Wisconsin in the Northern Oratorical contest in Madison, May 7. Six universities will be represented: Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, and Northwestern.

Music Hall is being remodelled and the auditorium enlarged to a seating capacity of 800. Sloping cement floors are being constructed on the main floor and in the gallery, thus doing away with the undesirability of back seats. Side curtains will be added to the stage, and the whole interior remodelled in imitation of old English halls, with heavy blackened beams to support the roof.

Prof. T. McLean Jasper has recently joined the faculty at Wisconsin as assistant professor of mechanics in the College of Engineering. Professor Jasper has just returned to this country after four years of service with the British army as captain. Before going into service he was, for two years, secretary-engineer of the city water commission of Chicago.

An Americanization movement to Americanize foreigners in Madison has been started by the University Y. M. C. A., under the direction of Robert Lindsay, '20, Milwaukee. Classes in American history and English, under University student-instructors, were opened recently at the Gisholt factory. Mr. Lindsay, who had experience among mill workers in Massachusetts while a student at Williams College, was appointed last fall by the Y. M. C. A., to take charge of the work, and under his supervision a committee was appointed to analyze the situation in Madison. As a result the factory classes were organized. The United States Department of Labor has endorsed the work.

About 100 students are enrolled in the course in city planning under Prof. L. S. Smith at the University this year. The course includes the making of new maps for various Wisconsin cities involving new plans for parks, boulevards, and traffic routes, presenting new ways to meet the housing problems, recreational lacks, and other municipal questions. Some of the cities and their problems that have been analyzed by these students recently are shown by the following titles of some of their topics: "Janesville's Housing Problem," "Milwaukee's Parks and Boulevards," "Port Washington City Planning Problems," "The Garden City of Kohler," "Parks and Playgrounds in La Crosse," "City Planning Needs and Municipal Recreation Facilities in Sheboygan," "Industrial Housing Developments at Eclipse Park, Beloit," "Suggestions on Housing Scheme for Madison's Italian District," "Our Capital City, Its Good and Bad Points," "Need of Parks and Boulevards in Wisconsin," "Mayville's Need for City Planning," "Fire Menace in Wisconsin."

An advertising agency has been formed by the student publications at Wisconsin, with merchandising department, copy and information bureaus, and other branches to carry on their work co-operatively. The agency will afford practical experience for students who are specializing in advertising.

The Varsity Circus will take place the week-end of May 22. No circus has been held since 1916.

The Octopus, student humorous publication, is undergoing the same fight for existence which proved fatal to all campus mirth magazines of the past. After two issues which met with indifferent success, a reorganization was effected whereby the leaders in campus journalism formed a staff in conjunction with the most prominent wits and satirists of the student body. The first product of the new staff "went big" with a circulation of over 4,000 copies. Before another issue the inevitable call to the proverbial carpet served to recall the fate of the Awk, the Blackbird, and other efforts at humor. The Octopus at present is in fair shape financially, and has a splendid plan of organization. Its future on the campus seems to depend on the ability of those in charge of its destinies to steer the treacherous middle course between offending the faculty on the one hand and failing to appeal to the popular sense of humor on the other hand.

Chadbourne Hall will celebrate this spring the fiftieth anniversary of its opening. Chad Review, the dormitory's annual publication, will publish an anniversary number containing a history of the dormitory for the women who lived there in former years. Chadbourne is the oldest women's dormitory at any co-educational university.

The parents of G.
