Treaties. Copies

Sir,

Washington Oct. 22^o 1821

I have the honour to submit to you a copy of the treaty, executed at Green Bay between the Winnebagoes & Menominees forming one party, and the delegation of the Seneca of the Munsee, of the Stockbridge, and of the St Regis Indians forming the other party. I intended to transmit the original instrument, but some accident had prevented it. I shall do it however immediately on my return.

I submit also a copy of the report of the person, authorized by me, at the expense of the persons holding the reversion of the lands owned by these Indians in New York, to visit Green Bay in company with the delegation and to conduct the negotiation. It is due to him to say, that this duty was zealously and ably performed.

A copy of my instructions to him should have accompanied this report but I find on examination, that I have it not with me. It shall be transmitted, as speedily as possible. My apology for the omission will be found in the little time afforded me for the arrangement of my papers, after the conclusion of the treaty of Chicago.

The result of this negotiation I consider important to the parties and to the United States. If ~~an~~ improper influence be excited, these Indians will gradually withdraw from New York, and establish themselves upon the land thus ceded.
They will there form a barrier, which may be highly useful in the event of any difficulties in that remote quarter.

Very Respectfully Sir
I have the honour to be
Yr obt Servt
Lewis Cass.

Hon. J. C. Calhoun
Secretary of War

Detroit, 7th Sept. 1821.

Sir

The deputation from the Six Nations and Stockbridge and Munsee nations of Indians having returned to this place, I have the honor to report to you the proceedings and the result of their mission to Green Bay.

Soon after your departure from this place in July last, I learned that Maj. Biddle, the Indian Agent at Green Bay, (whose advice and assistance, I was instructed, would be afforded the deputies,) was about to leave that place for the purpose of attending the treaty to be held at Chicago.

I communicated this information to the deputies on their arrival here, and at their request I addressed a letter to your Excellency at Chicago, requesting that such instructions as would be most likely to secure the object in view, might be immediately forwarded to me at Green Bay.

On our arrival at the place of our destination, we found the Agent absent, as was anticipated, and learned also, to our very great mortification, that his interpreters had accompanied him. Upon consultation it was thought advisable to proceed in our business without delay, although although we were sensible that we should meet with many difficulties; and with this view we procured a commodious house in the vicinity of Fort Howard, where we were visited on the seventh of August, by a Menomini Chief and a few of his warriors. We informed these men that we should be pleased to hold a council with such Menomini Chief as were at the place, and requested them to attend us, accompanied by those chiefs, on the following day.

On the eighth a few of the Menomini Chiefs called at our house, and were soon followed by some Winnebagoes, who took seats with them in the council room, when the deputies addressed a short speech to the former, stating that they had an important communication to make to them, if their principal Chiefs could be collected. This speech was, thro' mistake interpreted to them as addressed to both nations, which fact we did not learn until they gave their answer, when it was too late to correct the error, as they all professed themselves gratified with the invitation, and engaged to send immediately for the Chiefs of both nations.

Knowing that an enmity existed between the two parties, and that the Winnebagoes had refused to listen to propositions for the purchase of their lands, we were not a little displeased at this mistake of our Interpreter, but, as will appear to you, it eventuated in the accomplishment of our object.

On the sixteenth, the Chiefs of the two nations assembled, and we immediately commenced business. The Deputies opened the object of their mission in a very handsome manner, taking care to set forth in a proper light, the advantages which would result to them between the Menomines and Winnetagoes, from a cession as proposed, and after delivering a belt of wampum according to the Indian custom, the opposite parties replied in very flattering terms, and begged leave to consult each other, promising to give an answer on the following day.

On the 17th the Menomines opened the council with a positive refusal to accept the proposals made to them, alleging as a reason the limited quantity of lands proposed by them, and the difficulty they therefore experienced in gaining a livelihood. The Winnetagoes expressed a great deal of sorrow at this answer, and proposed to give their brethren of the east, the lands on the Fox river, from the Grand Chute to the Winnetago Lake, a distance of four and a half miles. Perceiving that the Menomines were astonished at this reply, it was thought advisable to adjourn the council with a view to give them time for reflection. On the following day they met the deputies again, and having stated that their minds had changed, proposed to join the Winnebagoes in a cession of the land, from the foot of the Grand Kaccalin to the rapids at the Winnebago Lake. . . . Immediately the articles of the treaty were prepared, but before being finished the Menomines received a message from some person without the house, in consequence of which some of the Chiefs left the room, and a bustle commenced among those who remained. We perceived at once the cause of the confusion, and began seriously to fear the influence of the French inhabitants, some of whom had expressed themselves in opposition to our measures from the time of our arrival.

After some time had elapsed, the Chiefs who had left us retur-ned, and it was then difficult to procure a decisive answer to our question, "whether they would sign a grant, the terms of which had been proposed by themselves alone?" After a a good deal of hesitation between their own inclination and that of their advisers, they told us, that their speaker had not expressed their true sentiments, but that their first deter-mination on our proposition was unchanged and unchang-
-able. All hopes of effecting a purchase of the Meno-
-minies were now at an end; for we felt sensible, as well from experience as from information, that they were guided in everything by the advice and instruction of a few of the principal Frenchmen at the place, who have ever opposed with zeal, the progress of settlement and improvement.

improvement in their country.

Upon reflection it was thought advisable to make another attempt, and the council was declared adjourned until the morning of the nineteenth, at which time the Wennebagos were invited to attend and sign the grant which they had first proposed: The Menominee were told, that if they should feel disposed to join in the cession, we should be pleased to see them also.

In the evening the two nations held a consultation at their encampment, and on the following morning they all assembled and signed the treaty, of which I have the honor to enclose you a copy, together with a sketch of a part of Fox river, exhibiting the breadth and course of the tract.

The grant is not so wide as was wished for and expected by the deputies, but when it is considered that we were obliged to encounter serious obstacles, unaided and alone, it cannot be denied that the result has been favorable.

Some of the deputies have visited the lands on and adjacent to the river, and are much pleased with the appearance of the soil, timber and local advantages: Indeed it is pronounced by the inhabitants to be the most valuable tract in that country.

The boundaries, as expressed in the articles of the treaty, are rather indefinite, but under the then existing circumstances it was difficult to make them less so. The grantors claim to the northwest as far as the Chippewy lands; sometimes they say three, at others, four, five and six days march. On the south east their claims extend to Lake Michigan.

Should it be thought advisable, I have little doubt that a purchase may be effected, of the lands from the Rapid of the Fathers, four and a half miles above Fort Howard, and near the upper extremity of the French settlement, to the Grand Kaccalin, a distance of thirteen and a half miles; which added to the present cession would make a breadth of upwards of thirty miles.

I cannot forbear expressing to your Excellency how highly I have been gratified with the correct moral deportment and Statesmen like conduct of the deputies from the Six Nations, under the direction of Mr. Williams, whose personal exertions in this business have been very great. With respect to the deputation from the Stockbridge nation, I cannot speak so favourably. Some of them, it is true, have genius and energy, but they have been more addicted to intemperance than becomes men on business of this importance; and I fear that some part of their conduct has left an unfavourable impression on the minds of the inhabitants at the Bay.

I am aware that I have been prolix in this report, but a desire to give your Excellency a detailed statement of the facts attending the mission, has been the cause, and I offer no other apology; not doubting that when you shall take into consideration its imperfections, your goodness will prompt you to excuse them, under the belief that they do not arise from a want of inclination to make it more satisfactory.

With the highest respect,

I have the honor to be

Your Excellency's very humble and much obliged servant.

Charles C. Fowbridge

His Excellency Lewis Cass.

Governor of the Territory of Michigan.
