PRICE 5 CENTS

BOOKS FOR 1924 HARESFOOT DUE BY JUNE FIRST

Club Closes Contest Early

Announcement of the opening of the contest for the book for the 1924 Haresfoot show comes just on the heels of the closing of its most successful show "Kikmi" which, as the silver anniversary production of the dramatic society this year broke all capacity records for a Wisconsin theatrical enterprise.

The contest for the writing of the book of the twenty-sixth annual show is open to all male students of the university. A completed scenario and two or three pages of dialogue, sufficient to indicate the author's style, must be submitted by June 1, according to Gerold Koch '23, present president of the Haresfoot club.

This is the first time in the history of the dramatic society that the Haresfoot club has required that the book for a show should be settled during the school year previous to production. The increased scope and size of the club is ascribed by the officers as a reason for the early date. Last year the deadline for the submittal of books was September 1.

Fernberg Will Help

Mr. Clarence Fernberg, of the English department, will assist in the judging of the plays and will give advice to those writing. The club managers have announced that any persons interested in the contest can secure information from Koch at B. 191 or Fernberg at B. 6070.

"It is advisable that all who are interested in writing a Haresfoot book should get in touch with Mr. Fernberg immediately. He can give many suggestions before actual writing is begun," Koch declared last night.

No specifications as to the type of the play were given out by the club managers, other than that it should be adaptable to the stage and to the limitations of a student production in which even the scenery is the work of undergraduates.

Better Book is Expected

In adopting the new policy of early writing of books the Haresfoot club is following the idea of eastern dramatic organizations. The Mimes club of the University of Michigan already has 16 books submitted as possibilities for next year's show.

"Those men whose work is selected this spring, will revise and complete their work during the summer so that at the beginning of the fall term a perfect book should result," Porter F. Butts '24, secretary of the club asserted last night.

Jan I. Tor Says the Men at Heidelberg Are Much Better Fellows Than Students

Editor's Note—Following is the second of a series of humorous articles on student life in Europe written exclusively for The Cardinal by Clement K. Phillips, formerly a student at the university and now studying educational conditions in France and Germany. Mr. Phillips writes under the nom-de-plume of Jan. 1. Tor. His first article, published last January 5, dealt with his ocean voyage and his first impressions of Europe. In the following articles he considers student life in Heidelberg, Germany, in a way such as only the self-styled college Jan. 1. Tor can write.

HEIDELBERG, Germany April 4.—Well, folks, as Tha Cardinal's foreign correspondent I have made a trip to the college town of Heidelberg where I've prepared the following piece of literature on Student Life in Europe.

Tha stewdents here in Heidelberg is all very nice fellas. I have been stowing with them for six weeks an I find they is much like American stewdents as they never allows their studies to interfere with their bad habits.

PUBLIC HEARING ON NEXT PROM IS HELD TODAY

Use of Capitol to Be Discussed

The use of the state capitol for the Junior proms in 1924 and 1925 will be reviewed by the judiciary committee of the assembly in a public hearing this afternoon.

A plea will be made by student representatives that the university be permitted to use the capitol for two more years. This extension, it is said, would lap over the time between the next prom and the completion of the Memorial Union building.

Hearing Opens at 2 O'clock

The hearing will open formally at 2 o'clock in room 213, Northwest pavilion of the state capitol. Because of a large number of other matters to be considered in hearing by the judiciary committee, it is quite likely that the capitol resolution, known as the Heck resolution No. 52, Senate, will not be brought up until about 3 o'clock.

Three students, Wayne Morse '23, George J. Fiedler '25 and Hawley Porter '25, will present the student request to the legislators. Porter, a sophomore, has conducted the campaign at the legislature with the assistance of other sophomores and advice of 1923 Junior prom officials.

The request to the judiciary committee will be made in the form of a petition for an amendment to the Heck resolution. The amendment would grant permission to the students to use the capitol for two more years until the Memorial Union building was completed.

Corduroys and Hobnails to Go

"Sheath your slipstick, seize your Sheba, and attend your dance" is the battle cry of the "Hill-roughnecks," now that the possibilities of another snow fight are gone and the parade of yesterday has put the rest of the school in its proper place.

Sunday suits, squeaky new shoes, and stiff collars will take the place of old army shirts and corduroy pants when the plumberts do the Vernon Castle at their annual dance on next Saturday evening, April 28.

Gone will be the clay pipe and forgotten the choice epithets and invectives of the laboratory and class room, for an engineer can dance as well as his L. and S. cousin. The dance will be held at the Candy Shop with Jesse Cohen and his eight piece orchestra furnishing the jazz.

APRIL NUMBER OF REVIEW IS ON SALE TODAY

The April number of the Athletic Review which is devoted to articles on baseball, track, tennis, crew, and minor spring athletic activities will be placed on sale tomorrow. Frank E. Gerhauser, business manager, announced yesterday.

"This issue contains a wealth of material of interest to promising high school athletes, and we suggest that students buying copies send them on to athletes who may come to Wisconsin," Gerhauser said.

In his article, "The Spirit of the Western Conference" John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics, explains the fundamental principle underlying athletic competition among the Big Ten schools. He urges the universities to reduce to a smaller minimum selfishness, suspicion, jealousy, and hatred, and to place a greater valuation on friendliness, trust and good sportsmanship.

The qualities which make a good pitcher, why some men who seem to have all the natural attributes of greatness never succeed, and the inside workings of baseball are given in an article by Guy S. Lowman, baseball coach.

JUNIOR WOMEN HOLD BANQUET

Yellow Tassel Meets Thursday to Hear Election Nominations

Yellow Tassel, junior women's organization, will hold its annual spring nomination banquet at 6 o'clock Thursday evening in the Lathrop parlors.

Nominations will be made at the executive meeting this noon and will be presented at the banquet where additional nominations will be made from the floor. The election will not take place until Friday, May 18, when the three lower class organizations will hold theirs together.

Tickets are being sold in the Y. W. C. A. office and the S. G. A. office at 85 cents apiece.

A program will be given between the courses by women of the junior class. Lois Jacobs '24 will give a piano number; Norma Schoen '24 will give a violin selection, accompanied by Lois Jacobs; and Gertrude Haase '24 will sing "In Italy". Arlene Klue '24 is to give a reading and Janice Boardman '24 a whistling solo.

The song which Mabel Jobse '24 has arranged and which Yellow Tassel will sing at senior swing-out, will be practiced at the banquet. This will be the only rehearsal, so it is very important that as many as possibly can will come.

The committee in charge of the banquet is Pauline Dickinson '24, chairman, Mary Ball '24, general arrangements, Jeanette Kennan '24 program, and Eleanor Day '24, decorations.

"This is the last time which we will come together in a social way as a class this year, and we are especially anxious that every woman in the junior class come out Thursday evening," said Marion Metcalf '24, president of the organization.

The banquet will be held promptly and will finish in plenty of time to get to the S. G. A. mass meeting in Music hall.

Games this Week

Today—Northwestern at Chicago.

Tomorrow—Purdue at Illinois, Northwestern college at Wisconsin.

Friday—Wisconsin at Chicago.

Saturday—Wisconsin at Michigan, Northwestern at Minnesota, Indiana at Iowa, Illinois at Ohio State.

The baseball team of Northwestern college, Watertown, Wisconsin, will start the Badgers off tomorrow afternoon on a series of four games which fall in a period of six weeks. The other games with Chicago, Michigan, and Notre Dame on Friday, Saturday and Monday respectively, will all be away from home.

Coach Guy Lewman succeeded in securing Northwestern for the Wednesday game after a long search. The coach wanted the game principally to furnish a good workout for his pitching staff, and to partially make up for the game with Indiana that was called off Saturday.

Johnson is to Start

Bill Johnson is slated to start the game from the mound, and Radke is certain of serving them up for a few innings. Either Schenk or Pickford will likely be called in to wind up the game.

The rest of the team will line up in the field about as they did against Indiana, with Holm, Ellingson, Combacker and Tebell in the infield. Capt. Rollie Williams, Becker, Servatius, and possibly Eddie Gibson will do the outfields.

A change in the batting order was predicted by Coach Lowman, which undoubtedly means that "Hulky" Holm will be moved up to the clean-up post as a result of his heavy swatting in the Indiana game.

Team Works Hard

The men who will enter the meet of work yesterday on a slippery field in preparation for the stiff program ahead of them. Batting practice with Coach Lowman heating them over the plate constituted a large part of the practice.

The session ended with a four inning set-to with Ruediger's yearlings. The Varsity were clubbing the ball all over the lot and had the frosh in deep water most of the time. Lowman used practically his whole string of players in the game.

SENIORS HOLD BUSINESS MEET TOMORROW NOON

The Senior class will meet Wednesday from 1:00 to 1:30 at Music hall for a short business session, according to an announcement from Rollie Williams, class president.

The meeting is of importance in that it takes up the following questions: The class memorial, the class reunion fund, alumni memberships, and similar related problems.

R. N. McMynn, president of the Alumni association, will discuss: memberships, aims of the organization, and the meaning of the association to its members.

ALMOND — Mr. and Mrs. John George celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ed. Schleicher.

WASHINGTON U. DEFEATS BEARS

Washington university will represent the West in the national inter-collegiate crew races at Poughkeepsie in June as a result of winning the Pacific coast championship by defeating the University of California Saturday in the annual crew race. Washington, with D. Walling as stroke, won the race in 18:05 and won by six length. Last year Washington also represented the coast and placed second to the Navy in the eastern races. California was the Pacific champ the year previous and placed second to the Navy.

NET MEN MEET IOWA SATURDAY

Hawks Have Team Which Promises Stiff Competition For Badgers

Coach Linden's varsity tennis team will meet the Iowa men here next Saturday afternoon in the first conference meet of the year. Iowa this year has a strong team, and one that promises to give the Badger net men all the competition they want. The Hawkeyes have the advantage over the Wisconsin men in that they have had about a week more of outdoor practice to put them in shape.

Last Friday was the first day that the Badgers have been able to put in on the outdoor courts. They are making up for lost time now, and by the end of the week they will be in shape to give the Hawkeyes some stiff running for a victory.

Coach Expects Strong Team

With Captain Tom Tredwell, Art Moulding and Nick Aageson, veterans of last year's squad as a nucleus, Coach Linden expects to build up a strong team which will be hard to beat. Some of the other promising material with which the coach has to work is George Bennett, Larry Hastings, and Sinclair Henika. All of these men have shown promise and are sure to put up some good stuff when they are called upon.

The team feels the loss of "Swede" Gotfredson of last year's team. Gotfredson was a strong man and a hard one to beat. He could be counted on to show some good stuff when the team needed strength.

Team Not Yet Selected

The men who will enter the meet with Iowa next Saturday have not been selected as yet by the coach. Their daily work will have a great deal to do with their entry on the weekend. The selections will be made partly by matching and elimination.

Little is known of the strength of the Iowa team. Most of the rumors that float around are that they have a strong team and one that the Badgers will find hard to beat. Janse and Swenson, two of the Hawk's strong men have reached the semi-finals of the Iowa State net tourney. These men, who are also paired up in the doubles will make a hard combination for the Badgers to beat. Janse is also a former star on the basketball court. If the Badger team can win from the Hawkeyes they are almost assured of coming through the season with a clean slate since the Hawks are considered the best in the Conference.

Physical Ed Instructors

Back From Chicago Meet

Miss Blanche Trilling, Miss Mary Carns, and Miss Alice Brownell of the Physical Education department attended the convention of Middle-West Social education at the University of Chicago, from April 19 to April 21.

Miss Trilling addressed the convention on the subject of "The General Athletic Situation For Women at the Present Time."

Some seniors in the physical education course attended the convention.

MAUSTON — Frank and John Steiner have purchased the Riverside Milling company, formerly owned by Martin P. Ginty.

BELOIT RUNNERS SUFFER DEFEAT BY 93-42 SCORE

Bad Weather Slows Up Track Men

Editor's Note: Because of an accident Saturday night, publication of the report of the Wisconsin Beloit track meet was delayed until this morning.

Despite the weather man's frantic attempts to thwart them, the Wisconsin track men went through their paces before a handful of spectators at Camp Randall Saturday afternoon and stepped on the highly touted Beloit team to the tune of 93 to 42.

The shivering few who braved the cold drizzle which fell during the entire meet saw a rejuvenated Badger squad leave a plucky but sadly outclassed Beloit team struggling far back in the mire while they plowed up the soggy cinders to an overwhelming and easy victory.

Breaks Javelin Record

The only Wisconsin record which fell in the mud during the meet was the javelin record of 158 feet made by Guy M. Sundt. Nygren, Beloit heavy, sailed the javelin 160 feet four inches.

While the meet showed strength that the Cardinal men have been unable to display in former meets, it was hardly a just test, for the heavy moist air as well as the lack of fast competition, was hardly conducive to bringing from the Wisconsin men their best efforts.

Captain Spetz, of the Badger team, counted ten points on his first place in the two dashes for a high total among his men.

Badgers Take Five Events

The Badgers scored clean sweeps in five events, taking the first three places in the mile, quarter mile, two mile, half mile and high jump. There was little competition in any of the distance runs and the high jump proved so easy that the three Wisconsin men were able to stop working at the 5 foot 7 inch mark after eliminating all opposition.

The absence of four star half-milers who were in Kansas to take part in the Kansas Relays was scarcely felt. Tom Carter, Rossmessel, and Paulson, who were "left behind" when the half-mile team went away, fought the race out among themselves and finished in the order mentioned.

Summary of the meet:

100-yard dash—Svetz, Wisconsin, first; Addie, Beloit, second; Krohn, Wisconsin, third. Time, 10 1-10 seconds.

One mile run—E. Schneider, Wisconsin, first; Sherman, Wisconsin, second; Bergstresser, Wisconsin, third. Time, 4 minutes, 44 2-10 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Newell, Wisconsin, first; Gates, Beloit, second; Thompson, Beloit, third. Time, 15 3-10 seconds.

Quarter mile run—Flueck, Wisconsin, first; I. Wade, Wisconsin, second; Hill, Wisconsin, third. Time, 54 2-10 seconds.

Two-mile run—Tschudy, Wisconsin, first; G. Wade, Wisconsin, second; Perry, Wisconsin, third. Time, 10 minutes 18 1-10 seconds.

"BY THEIR WORKS . . ."

Obscenity is not humor,—neither is raw vulgarity. We wonder if the engineers failed to realize that while planning their parade. Certain floats led us to suspect that they used neither judgment nor discrimination in so doing. Some of the floats were excellent takeoffs—splendid humor. Yet the detestable vulgarity and suggestive bawdiness of two in particular actually ruined a fine parade by arousing feelings of contempt and disgust in the spectators.

We shall not, however, pass judgment upon them in accordance to their own motto, "By their works ye shall know them," for we honestly believe that they have more discrimination and more sense than parts of the parade led one to think. It is charitable to say that they really knew better, and that it was only an unhappy accident that allowed those floats to slip by.

Accidents do happen. But if the accident develops into a habit, one will be convinced that by their works we shall begin to know the plumber parades.

WHO'LL DROWN FIRST?

The canoeing season has officially opened. How long before the first canoeist drowns?

Invariably as this season comes around, drownings due to carelessness, thoughtlessness, but more often sheer recklessness, occur. Then, when it is too late, there are denunciations, resolutions, and demands for precautionary measures and more rigid enforcement of the regulations governing the lake.

NEW YOUTH

Whatever may be the preparations that have been made for life saving, it is evident that the lake has been opened too early. It should remain closed until the icy chill has left the water. As it is, any unfortunate who capsizes on the lake now is almost sure of drowning before help could possibly arrive.

The numbing cold of the water would make swimming an impossibility, and likewise, any struggle to remain above the surface while they know not what. They describe themselves as being filled with a desire to wander,—they know not where; they have a desire to come to the realization of their hopes and dreams, but what those hopes and dreams are beyond an ideal social life they do not know, nor do they seem to care. They desire to wander and to seek for a comprehension and discrimination of the great and the deep.

They rhapsodize about Youth, its earnestness, its longings and yearnings. They speak of the Welt-schmerz and the Wanderlust, and seem utterly unaware that that of which they speak is but an age old force of adolescence. They glorify Nature because of the effect that it has upon the growing youth and argue that they come into the deeper meaning of life through wandering and studying outside of the closed and limited schoolroom.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

In those days so popularly spoken of as "the good old days," debating and oratory were the center of interest. If they did not actually rank above athletics, they were at least on a par with them.

The situation is otherwise now. A crowd of thirty-six attended the last intercollegiate debate. It used to be a crowd of a thousand.

Not long ago, the local Northern Oratorical League contest was held. The Forensic board offered a prize of $25 in cash for the winner of first place. The winner of this contest would then be given the opportunity of contesting for the prizes of $100 and $50 for first and second places respectively in the final N. O. L. contest.

The only requirements are that the contestants be upperclassmen, that a speech of less than two thousand words be written, memorized and delivered in a local contest. Yet only four men entered the contest.

Only four men! Why was it so? Could it be that the actual achievement has no charm; that the opportunity of winning the highest individual forensic event at Wisconsin, and the opportunity of representing the university in an international contest of a most highly intellectual nature has no attraction? Has not even the money in this age of dollars an attraction? It seems not!

the lifeboat was coming would also be futile. Then too, the possibility of getting into a life-preserver in the cold of the water is very slight. The past has shown that capsizings are inevitable, but it does not follow that the great risk of drowning as a result of capsizing is also inevitable. The early opening of the lake is unnecessary. The pleasure that it affords to a few does not compensate for the great risk of life that it entails.

Human life is far too sacred to be risked at the pleasure of venturesome fools. Yet the past has been characterized by canoeists deliberately evading and violating the rules and thereby risking not only their lives but those of others.

An insufficient number of life preservers, disregard of warnings and signals, inexperience in handling a canoe, overloading, and venturing on the lake during rough weather are some of the misdemeanors that have demanded their toll in lives year after year.

Canoeists guilty of violating the rules and thereby endangering life are deserving of scant consideration, for usually the guilty one risks not his own life but that of others who are innocent. Severe punishments should be meted out for all infractions of the rules.

Leniency has characterized the past and tragedies have followed. Let a justifiable rigidness in the enforcement of the rules by the University Life Saving station characterize this season that we, and you, do not drown.

NEW YOUTH

The New Youth Movement of Europe appears to be based upon and animated by the nameless and indescribable longings and yearnings which characterize adolescence. From their own statement, it seems that the war in some inconceivable way has awakened and freed them, and united them into this New Youth Movement.

The movement itself is apparently a romantic, idyllic, and idealistic thing, just an aimless striving for to remain above the surface while they know not what. They describe

Editor's Say

RULES IS RULES

(Daily Illini)

Out in Iowa there is a great athlete who, it is reported, is not going to graduate with his class this spring. He has been at school four years, won nine major letters for his prowess on the athletic field, and has been a pretty fair student all the time. But he lacks a half hour of required work in physical exercise and will not get his degree.

There is something laughable about such an incident, at least for everybody except the unfortunate student and his immediate friends. We have all the respect in the world for regulations, restrictions and requirements but there is such a thing as carrying the latter so far that it becomes farcical and immediately begins to deteriorate in power and effectiveness.

A course in physical education is obviously placed on the required list because all of us need exercises to carry on our school work properly and to keep in good health. Looking at it from a technical standpoint the school in question has made itself seem absurd by overlooking the years spent on its varsity teams and deciding that the only way to get the proper physical training is to take the half hour course prescribed.

The case is illustrative of the absurdities of enforcing hard and fast rules in a large group of students. No rules can be made that will cover all cases and the sooner this is learned the sooner will laws cease to be disregarded.

The entire student body is at present laughing at the rules that the faculty of the college has decided to enforce strictly. Every student knows that the athlete doesn't need further physical training, and since they are young they heed but little the arguments that laws are laws and must be upheld to the letter regardless of the resulting absurdity. That school has sprung into prominence overnight; we hope our school does not achieve the same sort of publicity under similar circumstances.

"RADICALS" AND THINKING

Editor, The Cardinal:

It has been a long time since an article so absolutely foolish as "Go Slowly", by H. S. Rubel '23, has appeared in your paper. The attack seems to be dedicated against certain "sour skeptics", "poseurs", "mental rotters", "fools", and "intellects" etc., who are "fundamentally dishonest", who are "unsullied with experience", and are in a frame of "dyspeptic destruction", whatever that is.

Let us ask Mr. Rubel: "Who are these undesirables?" Does he lack courage to name them? Let us canvas the situation. Perhaps Mr. Rubel may mean our state assembly, the Social Science club, the young men's progressive league, the Scorpion, the socialist party, or, just all those who do not agree with him.

Why this lengthy apology for the fraternity system, Mr. Rubel? Who has been attacking it? If it has been attacked, and there is some justification for the attack, why don't you try some remedial measures from the inside? Surely you don't think the present system is perfect.

The writer is acquainted with a great number of these "wild radicals" on the campus. Most of them are very courteous in their dealings. They don't call their opponents names—that would be "vulgar, nasty and ill-mannered"—they haven't felt the sting of Mr. Rubel's refusal to associate—and they are committed to a purpose of making Mr. Rubel and others like him think.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO FORENSICS?

Not very many years ago, forensics, including debating and oratory, was one of Wisconsin's popular activities. Students, with intense interest, followed the results of inter-collegiate oratorical and debating contests with the old school spirit of rooting and boosting from the sidelines. The cream of the school held up success in forensics as a point of highest ambition.

But now, what has happened to the glorification, the boosting, of the ambitious young orator? In athletic contests, we show our school spirit at its maximum. To the accomplished athletes, we give our praise and admiration. But to those accomplished in forensics, as a result of the hard work of developing ability in assimilation, thought, and expression, the student body gives almost no heed, no school spirit, no recognition for achievement.

There is little justification for this fact. Many college graduates who have become successful in business or profession emphasize from experience that an undergraduate interest in forensics is of more lasting, practical value than in any other single activity.

It is a problem for the students to think about. It takes only a little common sense consideration to see that in our scant encouragement of forensics we have been neglecting an activity which should hold a place among the foremost of college interests.

Big Questions Before Senate During Week

Taxation, Natl. Guard and Prohibition Enforcement To Come Up

Taxation, the national guard appropriation and prohibition enforcement, three questions on which Gov. Blaine has taken a definite stand, are now before the state senate for action.

The governor's tax bill now in the finance committee will be reported to the floor this week, members of the committee say. They express the opinion that the measure will come before the upper house without recommendation, to be threshed out upon its merits.

Consideration will be given the national guard appropriation at Wednesday's session of the senate. A substitute amendment to the committee bill calling for a grant of $255,000 to the guard, is pending. This latter measure sets the grant at $225,000 and removes the continuing feature of the appropriation. Gov. Blaine has asked for $255,000 as a minimum appropriation.

The Sachien bill restricting prohibition enforcement, endorsed by Gov. Blaine, is now in the senate before the state affairs committee. Drys assert that they have strength enough to defeat this proposal, which is the main bill of anti-prohibition forces. They have killed every wet move in the upper house up to the present time.

The outlook for Gov. Blaine's tax bill is not the best in the senate, legislative leaders say. They point to the open opposition of the Socialists and say that if the conservative republicans vote against the measure, it will be killed by a majority vote.

A committee of conservatives consisting of Senators Antone Kuckuk, Oscar Morris, George Czerwinski and Theodore Benfey, saw Gov. Blaine on Thursday and discussed the appointment of an interim commission to study the tax problem. Senator Kuckuk said that this step was taken in view of the possibility that the governor's bill would fail to pass.

He said that the opposition senators were interested in having Gov. Blaine appoint an investigating commission, rather than the heads of the legislature. The governor favored such an arrangement, Senator Kuckuk said.

While all factions in the senate agree that a $255,000 appropriation will be allowed the national guard by that house, there is considerable apprehension among friends of the guard of the amount that the assembly will allow. Before the question is settled a con-are studied carefully and taken up in detailed discussion in hopes of finding a workable and satisfactory plan.

"We are discussing these matters with women of experience along these lines also so that we will be able to present the most practical and efficient plan possible for the women to vote on at the mass meeting Thursday," said Lois Jacobs '24, president of S. G. A.

Changes on Many Things

Changes will be proposed on the following subjects: lowering of the amount of annual dues, revision of the personal of Keystone, revision of the plan of electing representatives to S. G. A. board, and addition of an Article XII to provide for future changes being made by secret ballot instead of oral or standing votes at the mass meeting itself.

The plan of secret balloting at a later time was brought up at the first mass meeting, but too late to have anything done about it.

"There are many obvious advantages in a system of secret balloting," said Lois Jacobs. "In this way a more comprehensive opinion of all of the women in the university could be obtained, as inability to attend the meeting on a certain night would not lose their vote on questions. It would also provide for more thinking on the question from all of the angles before voting."

Keystone Recommendations

The recommendations which were made by Keystone and read before the first mass meeting will be discussed again at this next meeting. The last recommendations were not considered before the meeting adjourned before, and there were several matters of importance which must be taken up.

If the proposed amendment about ference committee of the two houses is looked for.

There is a general opinion now held in the senate that all liquor bills will be killed by that body. Two senators regarded as wet at the beginning of the session are now said by the drys to favor a referendum on the prohibition issue and to oppose any attempt to weaken the enforcement statute.

He said that the opposition senators were interested in having Gov. Blaine appoint an investigating commission, rather than the heads of the legislature. The governor favored such an arrangement, Senator Kuckuk said.

While all factions in the senate agree that a $255,000 appropriation will be allowed the national guard by that house, there is considerable apprehension among friends of the guard of the amount that the assembly will allow. Before the question is settled a con-secretaries.

The date for Homecoming next fall has been set for October 27 when Minnesota plays Wisconsin here.

"The 1923 Homecoming will be the biggest ever planned," said General Chairman Walter yesterday. "The addition of 9,000 seats to the Randall stadium this summer will increase the seating capacity from 27,000 to 36,000 persons. This means that 9,000 more fans can be accommodated this year than at former Homecomings," he added.

Send Alumni Letters

Henry C. Smith, in charge of alumni, already has sent over 15,000 Homecoming letters to grads throughout the states. "The work of this committee in writing these first letters marks the first step in his preparation for his greatest of Homecomings," Walter stated.

Full committees to work with the chairmen will be announced next fall. The work of some of the chairmen will begin at once.

secret balloting is passed at the meeting, all of the remaining Keystone recommendations will be taken up in that way in the near future.

S. G. A. will have someone in the office from 10 o'clock until 3:30 o'clock everyday who will discuss any of the proposed changes with women who are interested. Any new suggestions may be made before the meeting and considered by the special committee.

"It will be of the greatest possible help if the women talk over the proposed changes before they come to the meeting, so that their ideas be definite," said Cleo Parsley '23, president of Keystone who will preside during the consideration of Keystone's recommendations.

There are three very interesting exhibits in the Historical Society museum this week, one of old atlases another of World War relics and a third of strange Japanese de-lacies.

Shakespeare's birthday is observed by placing on exhibit a fine collection of facsimiles of the original editions of his plays.

Though they vary widely in subject, all the exhibits are instructive, especially the Japanese edible devil-fish, the dried minnows and other strange foods. The exhibits are in the north hall of the Museum, on the fourth floor in the Library. It will be there all this week.

Knickers for Women — from A Man's Shop

ON the banks of the Hudson, in the town of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dutchess Trousers have been made since 1879. The reputation of these good trousers soon spread until their famous warranty "10¢ a Button; $1.00 a Rip" was known from Maine to California.

Along in 1922 one of the big eastern colleges started a drive for its endowment fund and a young woman graduate conceived the idea of selling knickers to the girls of her alma mater. But who would make them? Why not a maker of men's trousers—one whose experience had taught him all the fine points of trouser tailoring? And so living in Poughkeepsie, this college woman brought her idea to Dutchess, and—what was originally planned for one college is now available to the women of every college in the country.

Dutchess knickers for women, man-tailored, of smart serviceable fabrics, can be had at moderate prices at

Tell your physics prof. that this cap defies gravity

SHAVING cream caps have an uncanny habit of chumming with gravity. That's why the Williams' Hinged Cap shown here is so remarkable. You can't persuade it to roll down a drain pipe. It refuses to go near the bathroom floor. In brief, it defies all previous laws governing the behavior of shaving cream caps.

Williams' Shaving Cream, in the same way, upsets all traditions about shaving. First of all, it exceeds every known speed limit for softening the beard. You can get your face ready for shaving in less time with Williams' than with any shaving cream you ever used.

In the second place, Williams' has a positive effect for good on the skin. Your face, with the wholesome care which Williams' gives, is kept in better condition and made more comfortable.

Test out these advantages which Williams' offers. Start with Williams' to-morrow and see what a time saver it is and how it helps make shaving more enjoyable.

For the picture "Environment" we suggest a new title, it's far fetched, so were several incidents in the play.

The youngster ran off with honors in acting. He was one of these curly headed natural innocents that we couldn't help enjoying. As far as obvious appearances went, Alice Lake, who played opposite Milton Sills, as "Chicago Sal," missed the mark, for she neither came up to our idea of a professional lady-crook nor the sweet young thing who would love to live on the farm in Indiana the rest of her days. Milton Sills was no worse nor better than he usually is.

The screening was poor in some places, so vague and dim that the titles were hard to make out.

If you like crooks, police raids, fires, jails, cabarets, chorus girls and what-not in a picture full of varied action, see "Environment."

We move that the legislature pass a bill on the proper appreciation of so-called comedy films while they're settling the rest of the world's problems. This audience giggled and roared their way loudly through 15 minutes of the slap "stickiest," "paintiest" comedies ever stretched on twice its worth of film.

MADISON HOLDS
DAY FOR BOYS
NEXT TUESDAY

"Boy's Day" a day for boys between the ages of 10 and 21, will be held here Tuesday, May 1. "Boys, the nation's greatest asset" is the slogan for making "boy's day" a success. "University cooperation is wanted," said Mr. R. H. Hommel, general chairman of the arrangements committee, yesterday.

A parade will head the program for the day. Following it there will be stunts at Camp Randall, and some speakers, who have not been definitely decided upon. T. E. Jones of the athletic department has promised his help in securing entertainment.

School children from the fifth grade up will be dismissed on that afternoon, and will march in a body in the parade. The Madison high school, the Boy Scout, the Italian, and possibly the University band will play in the parade.

The boys program is a part of the National "Boy's Week". Plans are being made to have "Boy's Day" in the churches of Madison next Sunday.

A meeting of all those interested in "Boy's Day" will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Association of Commerce. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Organization Will Present 4
Plays Thursday at High

Tickets for the four plays to be given by Curtain club on next Thursday evening in the Madison high school auditorium will go on sale this morning in Bascom hall.

The four plays will compose the fourth annual production. Previous plays have been Oscar Wilde's

"The Importance of Being Ernest," in 1920, "The Tragedy of Man," in 1921, and William Ellery Leonard's "Red Bird" in 1922. This year's four plays are somewhat a departure from the former work of the club, which has generally been to present one long play.

Curtain club is an organization of faculty members, their wives, alumni, and other persons interested, which has for its purpose the presenting of such plays as would not otherwise be seen in Madison, or of such nature as the students would not put on.

The four plays to be presented Thursday evening are "Minuet," by Louis M. Parker, "The Shadow of the Glen" by John Millington Synge, "Night at an Inn" by Lord Dunsany, and "Peace in the Home" by George Courteline, translated by Prof. F. A. Ernst and J. F. A. Pyre.

C. L. Fernberg, of the English department, is the coach of "The Marquis" and also takes the leading role. Julia Hanks, of the Physical education department, will have the role of the marchioness, while Norman Bassett will be the goaler. This play is a delicate French one by the author of "Disraeli."

"The Shadow of the Glen," which is an Irish play, has in the cast Prof. E. H. Byrne, of the history department, as Dan Burke; Warner Taylor, as the tramp; Ralph Scheinfug, as Michael Dan, and Mrs. M. S. Hill, an instructor in dramatic presentation at the Wheeler school, as Nora Burke. Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, of the English department, is the coach.

"Night at an Inn" is the thriller of the evening. It is intense in melodrama and the use of the supernatural. The cast includes the Toff, portrayed by Prof. Robert West of the speech department, and sailors, portrayed by William Rosa, an alumnus, and Morris Roberts and Robert Tapley, both of the English department. Professor West is the coach.

"Peace in the Home" is a translated French farce with a modern paraphrase of the old home theme of the husband and wife spat. Prof. Smiley Blanton, of the speech department, takes the part of the husband, and Mrs. J. V. Fuller is the wife. Prof. F. A. Ernst, of the Romance languages department, is the coach.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are: Walter Morley '25, president; Addis Drake '24, vice president; Hawley Porter '25, secretary; Louis Lichenfeld '26, treasurer; Landon Hall, member at large to the council; and Wes Dunlap '25, Stedman Woodward '25, Walter Couto '24, Campus Religious council.

Racy Comedy
'Nice People'
Wins at Orph

By E. A.

A little sermonette in morals and frivolity of the "smart set" of our American cities entertained vaudeville goers delightfully last night at the Orpheum theater.

It was Rachel Crothers' three-act comedy, "Nice People," a popular production along Broadway and now produced in Madison as the first of series of plays by the Dorothy La Vern Stock company.

We had our hesitation about stock entertainment for Madison. After enjoying the show, seeing ourselves painted extravagantly as daring in freedom, sex frankness, and unconventionality, we decided that the company will be as popular in Madison as "Nice People" was on Broadway.

Daughters go motor riding after 1 o'clock, but "Ted" Gloucester, red-haired, reckless and quite snappy, found that one ride of hers brought her in an awful mess.

Society is shocked. "Ted" finds out—but then that's telling. We'll let you enjoy the play yourself.

The company expects to give "Seventeen," "Up in Mabel's Room," "The Storm," "Welcome Strangers" and others during their stay in the city.

training bill which voted to engrossment last week by the assembly, is the chairman of the judiciary committee and will conduct the hearing.

Senator Heck, author of the resolution, is expected to be present. Heck, a progressive leader in the senate, believes that the capitol should not be used for any purpose to which the public is excluded. The resolution states that no function for "private profit" shall be held in the state capitol.

Whether the Junior prom and Military ball, the latter for veterans of the World War and cadets of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the university, come within the term of "private profit" will probably be discussed at the hearing.

Progress of the Memorial Union building plans, now set to begin actual construction on the foundation next fall, together with a financial statement of the funds, subscribed by students and alumni, will also be explained.
