UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN, MADISON, THURSDAY, NOV. 27, 1924

FIVE CENTS

FIRST C. I. P. A. DELEGATES WILL ARRIVE THIS NOON

Scribes From High Schools in 47 States Will Register
at Library

Delegates from every state in the Union, except Nevada, will begin to arrive in Madison this noon for the fifth annual Central Interscholastic Press association convention which starts tomorrow morning and will close Saturday afternoon. The vanguard of the 1,200 delegates who are expected will be taken to the library where they will register and be assigned to rooms.

Coupon books will be sold to the delegates for $1.75. These coupons will include all the regular meetings as well as the banquet, the Vodvil show and the convention ball. Students of the university may buy these books at the same rates as the delegates and may attend any or all of the meetings or entertainments.

Journalist to Speak.

Lee A. White, of the Detroit News and a graduate of the University of Michigan, will be one of the principal speakers at the convention. M. E. Birdsong, director of the Course in Journalism at Butler university and who was an instructor here last year, will also be present at the convention. Profs. W. G. Bleyer and M. C. O'Shea will be the other speakers at the convention.

Due to the congestion that occurred last year when most of the meetings were held in Music hall, the principal convention meetings will be held in the Stock pavilion this year.

Will Take Pictures.

The convention will be opened officially at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Stock pavilion with addresses of welcome by George B. Hembrecht, state director of vocational education; President Birge, and Professor Bleyer. An exhibit of newspapers showing the development of American journalism on the fourth floor of the Historical library and the convention exposition at the Stock pavilion will follow the opening addresses.

"The significance of Scholastic Journalism" will be the subject of the address that Professor O'Shea will deliver to the general convention convocation in the Stock pavilion at 1 o'clock. After the convention pictures and movies have been taken by M. E. Diemer, the university photographer, round table discussions will be held in va-

FRESHMAN GROUP TO HAVE BANQUET

Coach Meanwell Will Address
First Meeting of Class
Organization

With a banquet tomorrow night at the Woman's building the first organization for freshman men ever formed at the university will become a fact. Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, basketball coach, Clyde Kluckhohn '28 and John Parkinson '28 will be the speakers.

Jack Sampson '27, Donald Patterson '27 and Owen Lyons '27 will provide the entertainment. They will present several songs and a special act.

The purpose of the new organization which will be formed at the meeting is to promote better fellowship among members of the class, more interest in activities, clearer thinking, and higher scholarship. The movement is working as a part of the freshman class with the full cooperation of the officers of that organization. It is also backed by the Y. M. C. A. and, as a group, will probably take a part in the activities of the association.

There are still some tickets left for the banquet, and may be obtained from the committee of fifty or at the Y. M. C. A. A 65 cent dinner will be served.

"NOT GUILTY"

A jury has acquitted Patrick Powers, charged with the killing of Peter M. Posepny '25, a university student.

Thus the law has taken its course. There is nothing for the state to do except to abide by the decision. All law abiding citizens must accept the rulings of the court.

"Not guilty" the jury has decided. Upon the evidence submitted they gave a decision that they were sworn to give to the best of their ability. "Not guilty" is the law's course.

But we wonder whether the "higher law" will be so lenient. We wonder what the decision will be at the Judgment Seat? We wonder what Patrick Powers will say when he is called upon to answer for the killing of Peter Posepny?

Fear played a large part in the argument of the defense. Fear of a hardened criminal ready to spring out upon Powers from the darkness! Fear of attack by a murderous assailant!

We wonder whether fear drove Powers to Janesville? Fear that student opinion might secure a conviction?

We should like to see a wholesome fear of all students on the part of the Madison police force. We should like to see the police force tremble in its boots at the approach of a student. We should like to see terror thrown into their hearts when the word student is mentioned.

Twice within four years a student has met death at the hands of a Madison policeman. We wonder if sometime the condition may not be reversed? And we wonder what the decision will be?

WILL PROSECUTE ELECTION CASES

Student Court Meets to Investigate
Alleged Voting
Irregularity

The Student court will hold session next Monday night in the Law building to try the cases of two students charged with certain irregularities in the voting in the general student election last month. The court prosecutor, Egon L. Peck L3, has collected evidence in several cases and will try to get conviction on three counts in one case and on one in another.

Several additional cases will be brought up at Monday's session to give the court an opportunity to set a date for trial. These will be disposed of as soon as the first two are out of the way.

Witnesses have been subpoenaed and will appear to testify for the prosecution. The students charged with the violations of the regulations have been given five days in which to prepare defense.

The sessions will be open to the public.

ROBERT GARLOCK '28 IS REPORTED MISSING

Robert Garlock '28 of the College of Engineering was reported as missing to the police yesterday by his uncle, G. H. Landgraf of 2309 Eton ridge. Garlock who lives with his uncle left home at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning for class and has not been heard of since. The police at a late hour last night had not been able to locate the student.

SELL 300 TICKETS FOR VODVIL ON FIRST DAY

Approximately 300 tickets were sold yesterday in the first day of the open sale for Union Vodvil, according to Norton Smith '26, chairman of tickets. The sale will continue tomorrow in the rotunda of Bascom hall and on Saturday morning at the University pharmacy. Groups who made their reservations by mail order are requested by Smith to call for their tickets this week.

Ticket Sale For Stewart's Talk to Begin Tomorrow

Tickets for Donald Ogden Stewart's lecture on "Laughter in the Jazz Age" which will be held next Tuesday night in Music hall will go on sale tomorrow at Hook's music store and at the University pharmacy. There will be no reserved seats because it has been decided to charge only a small general admission of 50 cents which is estimated will just cover expenses and allow every one who wishes to hear the talk.

Mr. Stewart arrives in Madison Tuesday noon from Chicago where he will speak Monday night, and leaves Wednesday for Buffalo.

As a humorist and satirist Mr. Stewart has been compared to such men as Stephen Leacock and Zola. His fame was made overnight when his "Parody Outline of History" was first published.

The lecture will start at 8:15 o'clock and the number of seats which will be sold is strictly limited.

UNION VODVIL ISSUE TO APPEAR SATURDAY

The Union Vodvil number of the Daily Cardinal rotogravure section featuring Union Vodvil, the C. I. P. A. convention, and athletics, will appear Saturday. Pictures of Vodvil chairmen and of some of the scenes will occupy the front page. Pictures of the track team, Steven Polaski '26, 1925 football captain, and the delegates of the C. I. P. A. convention will also appear.

MORONY IS IMPROVING AT INFIRMARY HERE

Thomas Morony '25, who was injured last Saturday, is improving very slowly at the infirmary, according to reports from the Sigma Nu house yesterday. He will not be able to return to classes until after the Christmas holidays. Morony was riding to the Chicago game last Saturday when his car was struck by a truck and turned over. He was taken to the Oak Park hospital, and later brought to the infirmary here.

Campus Asks, "What is C.I.P.A.?" As 1,200 Delegates Invade Town

"What on earth's the C. I. P. A.?" a freshman timidly inquires of an all-wise senior.

"I'll bite," the senior replies.

There are limits to all knowledge. Although this new organization has grown up under the eaves of the university, so quickly and quietly has it expanded that even seniors are obliged to admit ignorance.

To federate school publications, to raise the standards of journalism, to induce high school journalists to enroll in universities are some of the purposes of the Central Interscholastic Press association.

Founded by 41 schools the organization now has almost 1,000 members in 47 states. In 1921 some 165 editors and faculty advisors of school publications chose the university as the setting for the annual C. I. P. A. conventions.

Now 1,200 high school students are expected tomorrow and Saturday as delegates to the 1924 convention. As guests of the Course in Journalism, they will be conferred with, lectured to, banqueted, advised, and generally entertained.

More than 100 committee members have been organized into 12 groups to prepare the program and provide the entertainment. Registration, initiation, and convocation are scheduled for tomorrow daytime; food, frivolity, and favors make tomorrow night sound interesting.

Among the prizes to be given at the convention are three silver cups. One will be given to the school editing the best annual, another for the best magazine, and yet another for the best newspaper. Approximately 300 newspapers, 200 annuals, and 100 magazines have been entered.

COHEN WILL LEAD VODVIL MUSICIANS

Orchestra to Feature Arrangements Secured From Harry Alford

Jesse Cohen '24, well known leader of dance orchestras and composer of Haresfoot song successes, will have personal direction of the orchestra for Union Vodvil to be presented at the Parkway December 5 and 6.

Cohen was a member of the Haresfoot orchestra for three years and last year wrote most of the music for the club's production "Twinkle Twinkle."

The orchestra will feature special orchestration arrangements secured from Harry Alford who arranges all the programs for Isham Jones, Oriole Terrace and other noted dance orchestras. Fifteen pieces of which seven are stringed instruments will compose the orchestra. This is the largest number of strings ever used for a college or university show.

Overture selections will be taken from "Mary Jane McKane," a musical comedy composed by Herbert Stothart and Vincent Youmans. Stothart was an instructor in the university from 1912 to 1915 and as a member of the club wrote the music for many Haresfoot shows.

Youmans is the composer of the musical comedy "No, No, Nanette."

MEMBERS OF AD CLUB TALK TO JOURNALISTS

The Advertising club will take over the advertising program of the C. I. P. A. convention this week instead of holding its regular meeting. It will meet in 201 of the Dairy building annex from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Clark Hazelwood L2, president of the club, and business manager of the Octopus, will have charge of the first group at 2:30 o'clock when the Advertising club will be dismissed. Following his talk Bert Dolan '26, Floyd Gray '27, Robert Murray '25, and Hubert Holmes '25, will speak on advertising in student magazines.

At 4:30 o'clock Robert Casterline '25, and Otis Wiese '26, will talk on the "Methods of Handling Advertising in Student Newspapers and Annuals."

CAMPION IS SECRETARY OF BADGER ASSOCIATION

Thomas Campion, head of the Milwaukee county agricultural school, was named the secretary of the Greater Wisconsin association. Mr. Campion was a former instructor in the College of Agriculture here.

Is your name listed incorrectly in the student directory? Or was it omitted entirely? Is the present address and phone number correct?

The Daily Cardinal will publish a correction and supplement list next week. Mail or bring your correction to the office on the second floor of the Union building before 5 o'clock Saturday. Address communications to the Directory Editor.

JURY COMPLETELY FREES POWERS IN HOMICIDE TRIAL

Judge Says Patrolman's Record and Circumstances of Case
Make Act Excusable

Patrick J. Powers on trial at Janesville for the slaying of Peter M. Posepny '25, last spring, was completely exonerated yesterday of all criminal liability in the case. The jury which decided the patrolman's fate took only 15 minutes to come to a decision of not guilty.

The charge of Judge George Grimm to the jury, together with Powers' clean record as a patrolman and the number of burglaries that were then occurring in the student district were important elements that influenced the jury in its decision.

Powers Happy.

Powers displayed great emotion on learning the verdict of not guilty and personally thanked each member of the jury and Judge Grimm. Mrs. Powers remarked, "Well, Pat can eat his Thanksgiving dinner in peace now."

Posepny's father accepted the verdict mournfully and had little to say to anyone.

Judge Grimm in his charge to the jury declared that not every homicide is a criminal act. He said that in some cases a man may be slain for excusable reasons and under justifiable circumstances.

Defense Springs Surprise.

Defense Attorney Frank L. Gilbert made an eloquent plea for Powers, while assistant attorney general Joseph E. Messerschmidt startled the court by the claim that Posepny was not on Powers' back porch at all before he was killed.

Coroner Joseph Stevenson testified that he found no sign of footprints on Powers' porch the next morning and that he could not move the window which Powers claimed Posepny had rattled in an attempt to gain an entrance.

Messerschmidt declared in his plea that he could not believe that any man intent on burglary would have acted as Posepny did or would have carried a cumbersome raincoat on his arm.

"It is absurd," he stated, "to think that a burglar would rattle a window right after seeing someone enter the house and while lights were still showing in the house."

Powers in Self Defense.

Attorney Gilbert concluded by pointing out the law of self-defense and maintained that under it Powers' danger need not have been actual but that if circumstances were such that he believed in good faith that he was in danger of bodily harm he was completely justified in doing what he did.

TWO ORCHESTRAS PLAY AT FOLLIES

No Union Board Dance Will Be Held Saturday Night

Two orchestras playing alternately for approximately 18 dances will be one of the biggest features of the Haresfoot Follies to be held Saturday night in Lathrop gymnasium.

Talley and Benson-Emanuel, each with a ten-piece orchestra, will repeat the stunt of the Military ball last spring of providing continuous music. The number of the dances will be announced by means of cards placed at the ends of the room occupied by the orchestras.

As is the case with regular Union board dances, the number of tickets will be limited to 300, according to Gordon Walker '26, in charge of ticket sales. In order to insure that the Follies will be the best dance in town, he said, the regular Saturday Union board dance in Lathrop hall will not be held this week.

Tickets are available at the University pharmacy and at Morgan's for $2.

FOOTBALL MAINLY
BATTLE OF WITSEast and West Differ in Style of Play, Says Notre Dame Coach

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Football today, while a question of physical condition and strength, is yet more and more a contest of wits, Knute K. Rockne, coach of Notre Dame, declared in an address today before the City club of Chicago. The team that thinks the fastest gets the breaks and wins in a nip and tuck contest, he said.

There is a difference in tactics between eastern and western football, he said, declaring that western teams are not addicts to zone play as are eastern elevens. Princeton, he said, is the one eastern team that does not use such play.

Football Hard Work

"There is a lot of talk about advertising and the psychology of confidence in football," the Notre Dame mentor said. "Toil, energy, industry, hard work—that's what we give the boys in football. The thing boys, particularly boys from wealthy families learn in football, is the necessity of hard work."

"I don't believe too much success is good. I like to see a football team lose a game now and then—one game a season. I hope next fall we get licked a couple of times. It is good for the student body, the alumni, and the men on the team."

Purple Year's Best Fight

Northwestern, he said, gave Notre Dame its hardest fight of the year. "Northwestern," he declared, "was as fine a defensive team as we have met this year. Its tactics were good; its defense was good. When the game was over, I was glad to hear the whistle."

Football in the last 10 years has become exhilarating, he said, because the players no longer are taught that they must hate their rivals. Now, he said, there is respect for the opponent and not much boasting in victory.

So It Seems

Says the Illini sport writer, "Chicago may have the gold footballs, the best percentage claim for the title and the right to crow but anyway . . . we have the turtle."

The matter of the schedule is the last thread of football left. The council arranged a tentative schedule last night, but just which teams it contained was not given out. One matter which will have to be taken up at Chicago when the coaches meet December 5 and 6 will be about the Wisconsin-Chicago game. The five-year contract to play the game at Chicago has run out. Many want the contest to stay at the Midway; others want it transferred to Madison.

The Maroon game certainly attracts many alumni to Chicago who formerly have been coming to Madison for the homecoming game. This condition should not be. Granted that the Maroon-Badger game is becoming the grid classic of the west, the Wisconsin homecoming ought to be the highest consideration on the part of the alumni. Contact with the alma mater is essential for the true Wisconsin spirit.

On the other hand the Chicago trip is the most convenient and least expensive trip for Wisconsin students to make. But offsetting that is the fact that there are many Wisconsin students who have never seen Wisconsin play the Maroons due to the fact they have not been able to make the trip.

The Capital Times promises to wait until after the annual turkey gouge before making their big expose of Wisconsin athletics. At that it is a pretty fair policy to count your blessings before starting things . . .

Roundy, leader of the "what's wrong at Wisconsin?" and "write your own ticket" movement, has not yet come out with his long-promised expose on what's wrong here.

I'm having lotsa fun over my all-conference picks. Many agree, many don't. But in many of the all-conference teams which have been announced so far there is a concurrence on Rokusek, Polaski, Slaughter, Hancock, Abramson, Lidberg, Grange, Baker, and Parkin.

For W. A. A. Honors

The women's physical education department has authorized the organization of class horseback riding teams. They have also given 100 points toward the final W. A. A. emblem for the girls riding in at least one inter-class competition.

Mr. Brueckner of the Blackhawk Riding Academy, will have charge of the teams. Eight girls from each of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes will be selected and arranged in teams. Only advanced riders are to be on the teams. The four respective squads will drill two or three times a week as the weather permits.

Near the close of the winter sport season the freshman and sophomore teams will ride in competition. The winning team will then compete with the junior and senior teams.

Scenes Now Forgotten

One of the most important campaigns of the War of American Independence, having failed hitherto to attract the chroniclers, has been well nigh forgotten. It has remained for David Wark Griffith, creating his "America," the titanic romance of the Revolution, starting Sunday at the Strand theater to bring oblivion the great struggle to save the grain fields of the North Country, and to place it where it belongs—among the decisive struggles of the history of the United States.

If present plans mature two new coaches will be added to the Gopher coaching staff next fall. It was learned from authentic sources that Earl Martineau and Ray Eklund, two former Minnesota stars, were to assist their alma mater in developing future Gopher grid machines.

Both of these men have completed a year of fairly successful coaching; Martineau at Kalamazoo, Michigan, and Eklund at Kentucky university.

TEAM SEEM GOOD

No Puck Coach Yet; 35 Candidates Report; Five Teams Scheduled

In spite of the fact that Wisconsin has as yet no hockey coach, the prospects for a good team are very promising. According to T. E. Jones, athletic director, the interest this year is very intense, and although the first practice is some time from now, there are over 35 candidates who have already reported, nine of them having had previous experience on last year's squad.

Seven Men Back.

Capt. Gross, McLain, Jansky, Moorehead, Rufe, Earle, and Kintz were all on last year's squad and will undoubtedly form the nucleus for this year's team.

Although the schedule will not be arranged until Dec. 5, it is practically certain that Wisconsin will play two games with both Michigan and Minnesota, besides one each with Notre Dame, Northwestern, and Marquette. The first named teams, together with Wisconsin, represent the only Big Ten schools that enter this sport.

Nothing Definite as to Marquette Game; Five Conference Tilts Probable

That an intersectional football game between Cornell university and Wisconsin is altogether within the realm of possibility has been expressed by Prof. T. E. Jones, director of athletics at Wisconsin. Such a game would prove a big drawing card and would increase the interest in intersectional football. Both Wisconsin and Cornell are representative of western and eastern type of football teams and the game would help decide the supremacy of the East or the West on the gridiron.

Schedule Discussed.

That, and the discussion of other teams who might meet the Badgers on the gridiron were the chief matters of discussion at the meeting of the athletic council Tuesday night. The question as to who will be on the coaching staff or any changes in the athletic policy were avoided as the schedule took up the whole time.

Those who are anxious to see Marquette on next year's schedule will have to remain in suspense as the council failed to take any action on such a game and nothing can be done until plans have been made for games with Big Ten teams. Wisconsin will play four or five conference games, according to Coach Jones.

Program Meet December 5.

Nothing absolutely definite can be said about the schedule as the plans made at the meeting are only tentative and will have to be ratified at the meeting of the conference coaches at the Auditorium hotel, Chicago, December 5. At that time the schedule of the Big Ten teams will be formulated.

Meanwell Remembers 21 to 21 Game With De Pauw Last Year

With the first game of the cage season but three weeks away Coach W. E. Meanwell, cage mentor, is driving his squad hard in order to have a smooth working combination by that time. The first team to be met will be De Pauw University of Greencastle, Indiana, who held the Cardinal cagers to a 21 to 21 score in the battle here last winter.

Dr. Meanwell will put a team that looks very powerful on paper on the floor this season. With Captain Diebold, Wackman, Varney, Barwig, Spooner, regulars of last year's squads back, and a potent group of sophomore cagers in uniform, from early season appearances, it appears that the Badgers should stand high in Big Ten circles at the season's climax.

All the men are in good condition, and are eager for the fray. No injuries of serious nature have as yet handicapped the squad, and no doubt when the whistle blows for the start of the De Pauw game the regulars and substitutes will all be set to start a strenuous season.

Keep Jack Ryan!

Pursuing a schedule which contained only one contest against a minor team, Ryan's elevens the past two years have been outclassed in total scores by only three points. Wisconsin's total for the two seasons is 75, while opponents have made 78 points over Wisconsin.

While victories are not determined by total scores, a comparison of the two sets of figures is a good index, and in the case of the Badgers shows they have not been outclassed as badly as many intimate.

The team has shown a steady improvement all season, starting out with a poor showing against the preliminary colleges, but reaching a climax in the Chicago game. Michigan and Illinois, however, showed Wisconsin's slumps at the last of the season. The Badgers' record for 1923 shows how good, thorough coaching has overcome the handicap of green material. Good coaching did it. Keep Ryan!

Starred in Weight Events on Championship Track Teams

Not all of the famous Badger athletes were gridiron heroes. The feats of Arlie Mucks, star Wisconsin cinder path star, will always stand out in the annals of Wisconsin weight man, will always in the history of the university.

In his sophomore and junior years Mucks was the outstanding weight man in the conference on Wisconsin's two championship track teams of 1915 and 1916. His specialty was the discus. The big weight man held until recently the world's record for the discus when he tossed the leaden platter 155 feet 8 inches. He is still the holder of the conference record.

On the side Mucks heaved the shot and incidentally holds the conference record with a heave of 47 feet two inches. These two records are Mucks' official records but in practice he has bettered both of these with a toss of the discus for 163 feet 8 inches and a record in shot of 49 feet 4 inches.

Arlie was a hammer thrower of more than average ability; in fact Mucks was a utility man in any weight event. Also he played tackle on the football eleven and was a hard man to get by with a play.

Thanksgiving Day Games
Practically End a Hectic
Grid Season

Many a football player will be deprived of eating a big turkey dinner on account of the Thanksgiving day games scheduled for this afternoon. The biggest attraction in the form of after-dinner amusement will be the Cornell-Pennsylvania clash. These two teams are evenly matched and the outcome will settle a long time dispute. Coach Zuppke, of Illinois fame, will be an interested spectator as the Illini are scheduled to meet the Penn gridders within the next two years.

Columbia and Syracuse will bump shoulder pads in what promises to be the second best attraction in the way of turkey day entertainment. Both of these teams succumbed to the attacks of Dartmouth by about the same score.

Drake university, of Des Moines, Iowa, will journey all the way to Florida to teach the southerners how to play the fall sport. The Drake Bulldogs have a strong combination this year and will undoubtedly end their season victoriously.

Marquette will wind up its rather disastrous season by tackling the Vermont eleven. The Hilltoppers have a winning aggregation when they are at the top of their form, but they have been playing in streaks all year.

Vanderbilt will enter their game with Sewanee heavy favorites to win after their surprising win over Minnesota, tapers of the Illini.

These Thanksgiving day battles will about wind up the football activities over the country. Only a few games will be played next Saturday and after that all games will be intersectional contests on the Pacific coast.

Red Mich, sport scribe of The Wisconsin State Journal, has placed one Wisconsin man on his first conference team and two on his second eleven. Steve Polaski, captain-elect, was Mich's choice for end on the first lineup, while Nelson won a berth at tackle on the second and Captain Jack Harris was placed at fullback.

Although Harris has never played fullback on a team several sport men have placed the fighting Badger at the fullback post on account of his superb line plunging and driving power as was displayed best in the Chicago game. It was this game as much as anything else that brought out the ability of Harris.

Iowa Places Five Men.

Iowa leads in honors with five men on the two teams. Three Hawkeyes, Padkin, Otte and Hancock, are all on the first eleven, while Griffen and Olsen rated the second string. Minnesota ranks second with four men, while Chicago and Wisconsin, at the opposite extremes in conference rating, tie for third place with three men each.

Nearly All Schools Place Men.

The Illini and Michigan, two of the leading teams in the conference only placed two men each, while Northwestern, Purdue and Ohio State had one, respectively. Indiana was the only conference team that failed to have a man on "Red's" two teams.

No one seems to have any trouble in selecting Parkin, Grange, Baker and Lidberg as the first string backfield but aside from that there have been no two teams exactly alike. Line material has been of such a quality that two or three men are about equal for each position and it all depends on the writer who gets the call for the first string.

not effective until the fall sport season. Because of its newness some difficulty was encountered in regard to eligibility especially for upperclassmen who pleaded ignorance to the rule.

All team aspirants are warned to regard the rule as in effect this winter as a check will be kept on all signifying their choice for different teams, according to members of the physical education faculty.

In the editorial on "Build That Union Now" the Daily Cardinal did not mean to imply that the heating plant was at fault because of the temperature in the stock pavilion the night of the Spalding concert. It recognizes the fact that the auditorium was cold only because the doors had to be open to admit the audience and that a strong north wind was blowing that night. But this fact in no wise lessens Wisconsin's need for a real auditorium. We repeat, build that union now!

The cross country team walked off with a championship Saturday. Now for basketball.

PRAISE YE THE LORD

Someone said only the other day that there was more sorrow in each person's life than happiness. It would have been just as well for this person to have said that there was more sorrow in the world than happiness. Perhaps the two are the same.

As Thanksgiving day greets us, and we find that such expressions are made in this day and generation, one can do nothing more than stop and ask what there is to be thankful for. The idea that there is more sorrow than happiness is an idea which comes out of the Old Testament; the opposite idea, that life is largely composed of happiness, is a New Testament idea. The former is that of Job in rebellion as we see him in the tenth chapter; the latter of Job in submission with a little added.

Thanksgiving. Yes, as we look about us there does appear to be much sorrow. Certainly if want and poverty and disease mean sorrow, there is more of it than happiness. Down through the ages this has been the case. And more, for friends have proved disloyal from the beginning of time, and lovers faithless. Sincerity has been selfishly denied, ideals thrown in the mire.

Certainly poets and philosophers will never grant sorrow is greater than happiness. But it is not their business to make such concessions, and besides, poets deal in dreams, philosophers in the abstract, and neither of them deal with facts or in the real.

Why is it that any one should say that sorrow in the world outweighs happiness? Is it not because that person takes life too seriously? It is those who do not give a second thought to sincerity or faith or hope or ideals or ambitions who find the greatest happiness, those who go merrily along their own sweet way, getting all there is out of life physically and knowing full well that they waste their time and endanger their happiness endeavoring to solve the idiosyncracies of life.

And so those who take the pessimistic Old Testament outlook would do well to follow the example of those others who laugh, to agree to the omnipotence of the Most High and also to His ruthlessness, to laugh at Him loudly and long, even to thumb their noses at Him. They grant that there is some happiness when they say that there is more sorrow. Then let them take what happiness there is, make the most of it, and scorn the rest. For if they worry, that is what is desired; if they cry out, their sorrows are increased; but if they laugh and disregard all ills, then they conquer.

If they conquer and defeat the ends of the Most High, then they can truly give thanksgiving and great praise. To whom? To themselves—or to the Lord?

NO PARKING

The first of this week the Madison police put on a concentrated drive to do away with the practice enjoyed by many townspeople and as many students of parking cars in the streets for the night and not turning on the lights. It has been a regulation of the county these many years that no car shall be parked between the hours of 11 o'clock at night and 5 o'clock in the morning unless it shall bear at least one light. An accident occurs one night which is believed to have been the result of an unlighted parked car, certain officials come out with scathing statements against the Madison police force and the powers in charge consequently decide that they had better make some pretence at reform. Accordingly, they set out on such a drive. Perhaps the county is in need of fund. If that is the case, it must have pulled itself out of my debt by now with the number of arrests that have been made, almost wholesale.

But where is the sense in such a regulation. The police force was using what brains it had when it failed to enforce the law in the past. If cars should be lighted at all, it should be before 11 o'clock just as much as after, for there is certainly more traffic before, although some may think that most students are night-hawks.

Perhaps the most ridiculous part of the whole affair is that the judges on the circuit court do not know the laws of the county in which they operate. When notified by the Madison Association of Commerce that it was necessary according to the laws to have each offender warned on his first offence personally by an officer of the law, the judges declared that they had not realized that such was the case but that it would be impossible to carry out such a program since the drive had already commenced. Perhaps they thought the warning in the local newspapers sufficient. But they are not carrying out the letter of the law.

The local police force acts in spurts, and when it acts, it does so in a manner which is characteristic of haste. If the police force would give more attention to enforcing the speed law, instead of parking law, it would make Madison a much safer as well as a pleasanter place in which to live.

EXTENDING A CORDIAL HAND

This noon several hundred high school youths will arrive in Madison for the C. I. P. A. convention which is held here annually. These young men and women who are aspiring to become journalists—and starve—should be received with no less hearty a welcome than the budding athletes who come to town in the late winter and again in the spring for the basketball and track tournaments.

They will not feel welcome unless students take them in and entertain them just as they do the athletes. If they come to Wisconsin they will do the institution as much good as the athletes—and sh-h-h, perhaps a great deal more.

But the point is not to encourage them to come to this university in particular, but to give them such an impression of a university that they will want to continue with their education after they graduate from high school in any university or college. The newspaper world needs more college graduates. If it has more, the press may be elevated to some height which may make the citizen proud of it, as English citizens are and have a right to be proud of their press, rather than ashamed of it, as we should be of ours.

Students can help these high school journalists to receive a favorable impression of a university if they will treat them cordially, attend the various functions held in their honor. The admission for the various functions, the vodvil, banquet and dance is $1.75. Surely any student can afford that much for the good which his presence will do.

The Congregation will please rise, and Brother Mac will lead the faithful in a prayer of thanksgiving.

Convocation Urges Literary Center For English Department

To have a literary center at Wisconsin, a place where those interested in letters can go to read, talk and have an occasional cup of tea, was the plan brought before an English convocation Tuesday afternoon in Bascom hall.

"The English department needs a spirit of unity, a common interest such as the engineers or the lawyers have," said Professor Lathrop, head of the English department, in a short speech before students and instructors interested in the project. "This center could be in the form of a room, nicely furnished, pleasantly lighted, with books around, where people could go to talk.

"We could pay the expense of this project by starting an English house which would become a center of intellectual life here," Mr. Lathrop continued. "To start an organization such as this takes imagination and initiative. We need the cooperation of all the students interested."

Carrie Rasmussen '25, who has helped in promoting the organization appointed a committee to select a name for the house.

"The name must be one which can be applied both to a house and a club," Miss Rasmussen stated. All names must be dropped in Dean Roe's box before tomorrow.

EDITORS TO GET EXPERTS' ADVICE

Faculty and Students Act as Critics For Each School Publication

In order to give concrete and constructive criticism to the publication staffs who will assemble for the C. I. P. A. convention, special 30 minute individual conferences have been arranged for newspapers, magazines and annuals, according to Helen J. Baldauf '25, conference chairman.

Each school will be assigned a conference period for the particular type of school paper it publishes. In the case of a newspaper and annual or a newspaper and magazine from the same school, conferences for each publication have been arranged. Conferences will be under the direction of competent faculty and student advisers. Special representatives from a number of printing and engraving firms will be in charge of the annual conferences, where a technical knowledge of make-up and content is most desired.

All conferences will be held in the Stock Pavilion from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock on Friday and from 10 to 12 o'clock on Saturday, in order not to conflict with the general massmeetings of the convention. Specific assignments to the exact location of conference sections will be made at the entrance to the Stock Pavilion.

A card bearing the information as to the time and place of the school's conferences will be placed in the convention coupon book of one delegate from each school.

All the student staff members, including the faculty adviser, of the paper are urged to attend the conference, where questions will be answered, problems will be discussed, and constructive criticism will be volunteered.

FROSH VICE-PRESIDENT ASKS WOMEN TO UNITE

The gathering of forces for Green Button nominations December 8 and elections December 12 was urged by Jane Burrall, vice president of the class of '28, at the meeting of the freshman committee at the Gamma Phi Beta house Tuesday night. She asked that the girls try to bring the class together in a spirit of unity and friendship which has never before existed in the freshman year.

NEW MEMBERS WILL ENTERTAIN PYTHIA

At a meeting of Pythia Literary society at 7 o'clock tomorrow in 35 Music hall, the new members of the society will put on a stunt which is in charge of Ruth Ligon '28.

Vaudeville, Banquet, Dance to Entertain C.I.P.A. Delegation

A variety program of entertainment for delegates to the high school press convention has been planned for tomorrow night.

This entertainment will be divided into three parts, a banquet at 6 o'clock, a vaudeville show at 7:30 o'clock, and the convention ball at 9 o'clock.

Because of the large number of delegates expected, there is no hall that can accommodate them all at once, so the banquet has been divided into three sections, one at the Woman's Building, another at Luther Memorial church and the other at Wesley chapel. At each dinner a pep leader will direct the singing and lead the cheers for the various states which will be represented. These states will be seated together and the competition in cheering will be judged. During the meal, horns and caps of all descriptions will be passed out, and these will be saved for the dance.

Following the dinner, the whole convention will adjourn to Music hall where the vaudeville show will be given. There will be several acts by university students, but the

"PROMISE" TO HAVE VODVIL STAGE DEBUT

The Madison theatrical premier of "Promise," a song written by Jack Sampson '27, and Don Patterson '26, for the Duncan Sisters, will be given at Union Vodvil at the Parkway theater on December 5 and 6. The song will be played before the Union Vodvil performances, but the first theatrical appearance of the song will be given on December 5 and 6.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLES WANTED BY PATIENTS

A plea for cross-word puzzles is sent out by students who are weary of the monotonous days spent in the infirmary, and who welcome any form of amusement. Kenneth Powers '26, who is in charge of the Y. M. C. A. sick visitation committee, says that the cross word puzzles that are nerve-racking to most people provide excellent entertainment for the convalescents.

CASTALIA WILL MEET TO DISCUSS DEBATE

Castalia will meet at 7 o'clock tomorrow night to discuss tryouts for the Pythia-Castalia debate and the Castalia act in the Y. M. C. A. bazaar December 6. Dorothy Hapeman '26, will give an interpretive reading, Gertrude Baume '25, will review a new play, Carol Hubbard '27, will discuss a current topic, and vocal solo.

real attractions of the performance will be the four acts presented by four of the high schools.

The South Side High school of Fort Wayne, Indiana, will present a song and dance skit. Two Rivers High school, of Two Rivers, Wisconsin, will offer a Magician's act, Charles Altman being the magician.

Another dance act will be contributed by the Sheboygan High school of Sheboygan, Wisconsin. The act is called the "Rose Dance" and is being coached by Miss Mabel Batchelor '25, who has charge of dramatics in that school. The North-East High school of Detroit, Michigan, will present a short play entitled "Why Editors Go Wild."

William Parnell '22, is in charge of the vaudeville, and it is his plan to run the show on the lines of the Ed Wynn Carnival, taking the part of Ed Wynn himself, and thereby introducing the players and acts.

The convention ball in Lathrop gym will end the entertainment for the evening, and horns, caps, balloons and serpentine will add color and noise to the ball. One of Thompson's best eight-piece orchestras will furnish the music. For the benefit of those who do not care to dance a mixer will be held in Lathrop concert room at the same time that the dance is going on. Games and other forms of amusement will be the source of entertainment there. Gordon Brine '26 is in charge of the ball.

WILL DRESS 200 DOLLS FOR BAZAAR

W. S. G. A. Yuletide Affair to Be Held December 6 in Lathrop

Approximately 200 dolls are being dressed by women of the university for the doll show to be given in connection with W. S. G. A.'s Yuletide affair December 6, in the Windsor room of Lathrop. Big dolls, little dolls, dolls of all kinds, including nursery rhyme dolls, stocking babes, animal dolls, and teddy bears will be exhibited in an informal display from 2 until 9 o'clock of bazaar day.

The women who will sell and demonstrate the toys will be dolls themselves, no doubt, for they plan to dress as little Marys, Janes and Anastasias.

The dolls will be moderately priced according to the original cost. Two prizes will be given; one for the best individual doll, and one to the best W. S. G. A. district group of dolls. Special invitations have been sent to grade school kiddies to come and see the toy shop which will be in the form of an informal display rather than a regular toy store boxed show.

Emily Davidson '25, W. S. G. A. district chairman, is supervising the doll show. Rachel Kelly '27 has charge of the decorations.

Post Office Urges Public Co-operation in Christmas Rush

"Shop early" and "mail early" is the campaign slogan of the post office department in regard to Christmas gifts and greeting cards. James A. Buchanan, chief of the information service of the post office department, sends out the request for early shopping and early mailing.

Last year the American public joined in this campaign with so great cooperation that the spectacle of the last minute rush, with great hardships to the employees of the department, was avoided, and they were able to complete deliveries before Christmas day, according to Mr. Buchanan.

This year again the request is made in hopes that the same unqualified success will be realized. These specific requests are made by Mr. Buchanan, to shop early, avoid the rush, address properly, wrap securely Christmas packages,

NEW ANIMAL HOUSE UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The university has begun and has been doing extensive building and remodeling of the campus buildings, and in the constructive work one of the little heard of divisions of the biology building, the animal house, has not been forgotten. The old animal house is being torn down and a new commodious two story one is being built. There will be room for many more animals and the old tenants will be much happier in their new home.

Will Try to Make Golden Rule Sunday Day of Good Will

In cooperation with the nationwide Golden Rule Sunday, December 6, a committee, headed by Miriam Inglis '26, and consisting of a representative from each sorority and large rooming house, will strive to make this day an expression of good will and international fellowship.

In more than 20 countries, the dinner on this Sunday will be one of plain food without the usual little luxuries and desserts. It will be much like the simple meals served to thousands of poor, hungry youngsters in Armenia. The difference between the amount of money usually spent and the amount spent on this Sunday will be given to the Near East relief.

"This Golden Rule Sunday is to bring more closely to the minds of those who are prosperous, the charitable requirements of those who are in adversity," said President Coolidge.

Members of the committee will hold a meeting at 1 o'clock Saturday in Lathrop hall.

SPANISH CLUB PLAY IS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

The Spanish play to be given in March was discussed at the meeting of the Spanish club Tuesday night. The plot involves the adventures of a dashing new Rudolph Valentino who comes to the rescue of a sen-orita in New York. Virginia Berlin, James Chamberlain, and Verle Harebo put on a farce; "A un Hal-gazan" was read by Samuel Wofsy; and "La Vaquera de la Finojosa" was recited by Merne Keir. The club sang "La Cancion del Pierrot" and "Cielito Lindo" and played "Juego de las Citas."

LAWRENCE, Kans.—The men's council at the University of Kansas has passed a ruling that the flagrant use of taxicabs is not in keeping with the plan of economy at the university, and that the use of taxis should be discouraged and abolished except in times of inclement weather.

LARGE INCREASE IN TRUST FUNDS

21 New University Accounts Have Been Added Since 1905

The university trust funds, which by action of the regents in June, 1905, were merged into one account, have grown from eight to 29 accounts since that time.

The aggregation of the funds in 1905, $64,634.25, had grown to $3,110,971.39 by April 15, 1924. The increase in the total includes not only the amount of the 21 funds received since 1905, but additions to many of the funds received by transfer from income to principal.

The trust funds of the university are the following:

The Mary M. Adams graduate fellow in English language, the C. K. and M. M. Adams fellowship fund, the William J. Bryan prize fund, the Amelia E. Doyan scholarships, the Henry Gund scholarship in German literature, Jackson professorship of law, John A. Johnson student aid fund, the James T. Lewis prize fund, the Fannie P. Lewis scholarship fund, the Latin league of Wisconsin colleges, the Milwaukee Gas Light fund, the Secretary's loan fund, Christian R. Stein student aid fund, Carl Schurz memorial fund, Adam Conrath memorial fund, the class of 1912 loan fund, Hollister fellowship in pharmacy, President Adams fellowship in Greek, the class of 1913 loan fund, President Adams fellowship in history, the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical research fund, the Evan W. Evans memorial fund, Carl Jandorf memorial loan fund, the Mary M. Adams graduate fellowship in English language No. 2, the Graduating Class chimes fund, the Mary J. Eichelberger fund, the Jane Oakley fund, the Miller memorial beekeeping library fund, Edna Kerngood Glickson prize fund, and the Martha Gunhild Week scholarship.

Funds still in the hands of trustees are the William F. Vilas estate, the Stephens J. Tripp estate, the Calvin K. Jayne estate, the Annie Marston estate, the Torger Thompson estate, the Alice Pennoyer estate, and the Cora Rodmond Evans estate.

rious buildings on the campus. Newspapers, magazines, annuals the work of advertising managers, circulation managers, faculty advisers, and printing supervisors will be the subjects taken up at these discussions.

Banquet Tomorrow Night.

Editorial cares will be forgotten for the rest of the day when the convention banquet starts at 6 o'clock. Due to the large number of delegates the banquet will be held in the Woman's building, in Luther Memorial church and at Wesley chapel. The coupon books will be good for this banquet as well as for the other events of the evening and the following day.

The convention Vodvil, which is being put on under the direction of William Purnell '22, will be given in Lathrop concert room at 7 o'clock and will be followed at 9 o'clock by a dance. It will be held in Lathrop gym while a mixer for those who do not care to dance will be held at the same time in the concert room.

The regular convocations will be continued at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the Stock pavilion. Saturday afternoon will see the closing sessions of the convention. There will be a business session of 12:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Agricultural hall at which one delegate from each member publication will be present.

Lee A. White will address the closing convocation at 1 o'clock in the Stock pavilion on "Preparing for Journalism." Following his address the report of the business meeting will be given, the contest awards announced and trophies and certificates distributed by Prof. G. M. Hyde who is in charge of the various contests. The convention will be adjourned officially at 2:45 o'clock.

It CAN Be Done

You men who have instinctive good taste and want the utmost in good appearance in clothes, and yet must consider expense, we tell you, "It can be done." You're just the fellows for whom we bought our Co-op Special one and two pants suits.

We want you to convince yourselves. Just come in and look over the choice selection of fabrics—worsted, cassimeres, serges and cheviots. The colors are browns, dark blues and the popular lighter blues and greys. Every suit is expertly tailored and has the style a fellow would expect to pay fancy prices for.
